Knowland Says Democrats Delay On Ike Doctrine

House Committee Approves Plan by Overwhelming Vote

WASHINGTON (UP) — Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland charged today that Democrats are trying to delay action on President Eisenhower's Middle East plan in demanding a sweeping review of the administration's foreign policy.

Knowland made clear he would resist such a review in the form proposed by Sen. J. W. William Fulbright (D-Ark). Fulbright urged Congress Thursday to examine the "apparent failure" of the administration's foreign policy before it give stamp of approval to the Eisenhower Doctrine for the Middle East.

Knowland acknowledged in an interview that the Senate Foreign Relations Committee has a right to make a "historical review" of foreign policy if it wants to. But he said such a review "shouldn't delay action on something the President regards as vital to the defense of the Middle East and Europe and to our own mutual defense."

GOP Counter Plans

And he hinted that if Democrats press for an investigation of Eisenhower foreign policy, Republicans may counter with demands for a review of the foreign policies of the Truman and Roosevelt administrations.

The Fulbright proposal, quickly endorsed by some other Democrats on the Senate Foreign Relations and Armed Services Committees, threatened to stall Senate action on the President's Middle East plan.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles went back before the two committees today to plead for its swift approval.

The proposal — which would authorize Mr. Eisenhower to use economic aid and U.S. troops, if necessary, to block Russian penetration of the Middle East—cleared one major legislative hurdle Thursday night. The House Foreign Affairs Committee approved it by an overwhelming vote of 24 to 2, and Speaker Sam Rayburn predicted it will clear the full House sometime next week.

In another development, the President's plan came under attack from former President Truman.

Calls It Vague

In a statement filed with the House committee, Mr. Truman said Congress has "no choice except to take action in response to the President's request." But he said Mr. Eisenhower's proposal is "shrouded in vagueness" and shows that the administration "actually has no definite plan of action in the Middle East."

Mr. Truman said Congress ought not to act "as a rubber stamp" in approving the President's request.

"Even as it allows the President the authority for which he has asked, the Congress ought to spell out in some degree guides for the exercise of that authority and recommend to the administration the outlines of the course of action that it deems most necessary."

Meadville Area Detours Necessary

MEADVILLE, Pa. (UP)— High water from French Creek kept motorists on detours in the Meadville area today. But the Allegheny River tributary was falling steadily and the situation in the city itself was back to normal.

State police said Route 19 was closed both north and south of Meadville. A number of other roads, all secondary and rural, remained flooded in the vicinity of the swift-flowing creek.

Assembly Gets 'Pike Problem

HARRISBURG (UP)—The 1957 Legislature, which reconvenes next Monday, will have another problem thrown in its lap—what to do about the scandal-ridden Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission.

Gov. George M. Leader has his own ideas as a result of the indictments by a Dauphin County grand jury of 22 persons on conspiracy charges in an alleged multi - million dollar swindle of turnpike funds over the last several years.

An additional indictment, entirely apart from the conspiracy phase, accusing present Commission Chairman G. Franklin McSorley, Pittsburgh Democrat, of misconduct in office, prompted the governor to ask McSorley to relinquish his post pending disposition of the case.

Also asked to withdraw voluntarily was Commissioner James F. Torrance, Export, a Republican holdover. Torrance has been cited on conspiracy charges together with former Republican Commission Chairman Thomas J. Evans, Coaldale, and others.

The governor plans to ask the Legislature for a drastic reorganization of the agency which was established by a 1937 legislative act.

Serves Notice

The governor served notice on McSorley, his own appointee, and Torrance that if they do not step aside he will suspend them. He plans to send to the Legislature Monday the name of a new appointee to fill the vacancy created by the recent death of Commissioner David E. Watson, Philadelphia.

That appointment, subject to confirmation by the Republican-controlled Senate, would give the commission a working quorum of three members.

Leader told his news conference Thursday he favors transferring the commission's functions to "an unsalaried board of outstanding citizens," and the state Highways Department.

The turnpike operations would be under a skilled executive director under orders of the commission to fix tolls, collect them and disperse the funds. The Highways Department would have supervision over maintenance and construction.

The governor will outline his proposals to legislative leaders at a dinner conference Tuesday night in the Executive Mansion.

'Crusade' Urges Party Heads To Pick Qualified Candidates

The United Commission for Social Action, popularly known as "Operation: Crusade", has sent letters to the Republican and Democratic chairmen of Westmoreland County requesting that both parties select only qualified candidates for county political offices in this year's primary and general elections.

"Operation: Crusade" is an organization of Protestant ministers in Westmoreland and Fayette counties which was formed five years ago to battle rackets and corrupt government.

In identical letters to Republican Chairman Edwin H. Swink and Democratic Chairman Jay Kromer. the commission said, "We believe that you. . . more than any other two people in the county determine the quality of government which prevails.

"Therefore, we would offer some suggestions as to the qualifications which we feel a person must meet in order to be deemed a worthy candidate for any public office."

High Character

The commission said a candidate should never run for office solely for personal, social or economic gains. It asked that the candidate have proper training and be willing to go beyond the minimum requirements of his office to "sacrificial service if necessary."

The candidate's character, the letter said, must be of such quality that a position of power and influence "would not be likely to corrupt."

His desire to serve all people must be so great that no one — be he politician, disgruntled citizen or racketeer — can cause him to neglect the general welfare of his office. The candidate's economic relations with creditors and debtors must be above reproach, the letter stated.

The county this year will vote for two judges, district attorney, prothonatary and clerk of courts.

The Rev. J. Nelson Jackaway, of Rehoboth Presbyterian Church is chairman of "Operation: Crusade" and the Rev. George Yoder, of Manor, is secretary.

McDonald Wars On Racketeers In USW Union

CINCINNATI (UP) — David J. McDonald, president of the United Steelworkers Union, Thursday threatened expulsion "for life to any member tampering with the union's welfare fund.

"If I find anybody trying to spend any of our money dishonestly, I assure you, he will be expelled for life," said McDonald, who is here for a union regional conference.

"If any of our people fool with racketeers, by the eternal God they and the racketeers will go to jail," he added.

McDonald said an outside firm audits the union books twice a year. He said the reports are published, as well as all financial officers being bonded.

He said racketeers made approaches when the union was starting up in 1937, but "we told them to get lost."

The union chief said the union had taken part in the payment of $1.5 billion in insurance and pension plans to members and their families.

Three Crewmen Of Bomber Are Pulled from Raft

(Earlier story on Page 8)

HAVANA (UP)—Two B-47 Stratojet bombers collided in flight south of Cuba Thursday night and three of the six missing crewmen were picked up on a raft today.

The Homestead, Fla., Air Force Base reported a second raft was also spotted by search craft but it was not determined immediately if any survivors were aboard it.

Six men were aboard the two planes, three in each.

Maj. R. W. Bryant, public information officer at the air base south of Miami, said the three survivors "seemed to be in good condition" according to reports he received from the Coast Guard. He said they were being taken to a hospital for routine checkups, but he did not know where.

The survivors were identified as Maj. James McGree McFarland Jr., 37, son of John McFarland of 1001 Main St., Watsontown, Pa.; Maj. Winfred E. Lynn, 33, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Elmer Lynn of 2500 Kentucky Ave., Paducah, Ky., and 1st Lt. James Edward Rose Jr., 28, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Edward Rose of Dallas, Tex.

The planes, based at Homestead Air Base, collided in the air south of the Isle of Pines below Cuba. Each plane carried three crewmen.

Three Arrested In New York By FBI Agents

NEW YORK (UP) — FBI agents arrested three persons in New York today to crack a Soviet spy ring which had been under investigation since 1944.

Two of the three New Yorkers arrested are native Lithuanians. The other was born in Russia. The FBI said one of the trio was planning to slip out of the country when picked up.

The three are charged with conspiring to commit espionage for Russia. A 13-year investigation of a Soviet diplomat and reputed secret police official led to the arrests and the breaking up of the ring.

The Justice Department in Washington announced the arrests.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover identified those arrested as: Jack Soble, 53; Myra Soble. 52; and Jacob Albam, 64. The Sobles are married.

The FBI said investigation in the case dates back 13 years when the bureau began scrutinizing the activities of Vassili Zubilin who reportedly once was a general in the NKVD, the Russian secret police. Zubilin, after serving as third secretary of the Soviet Embassy in Washington, returned to Russia in 1944.

Long Involved

Soble, a naturalized citizen, long has been involved in Soviet intelligence activity, the FBI said, and at one time had other Soviet agents under his supervision in the United States.

He was arrested as he was making plans to leave the country after previous attempts had been thwarted through his failure to obtain a passport, the FBI said.

Soble entered the United States in October, 1941, under the name of Abromas Sobolevicius. He had a visa issued in Kobe, Japan.

He became a naturalized American citizen in 1947 in New York City.

He was part owner of a cafeteria in New York in 1944 and 1945. After the end of World War II, he had an interest in a bristle factory in France.

The FBI said he made frequent trips abroad until in recent years the State Department refused to give him a passport.

Sible's wife, whom he married in 1927, arrived in the United States from Japan a month before he did in 1941. She also became a naturalized citizen in New York in 1947.

In Labor Force

Albam was placed in a labor force by the Germans in 1942 when they took over Lithuania. He entered the United States in 1947 on a visitor's visa.

He returned to Europe the next year and then re-entered the country as the husband of an American citizen. He filed application for citizenship in 1951. It still is pending.

Albam is a foreman at the Hudson Tea and Spice Co. of Brooklyn.

The FBI said besides espionage conspiracy charges Soble and Albam are charged with conspiring to act as agents of the Soviet

Uniontown Man Is Suspect in 100 Burglaries

UNIONTOWN. Pa. (UP)— Authorities from Washington, D. C. and Warren, Ohio, were expected here today to question Robert Veach, 20, alias Rocco Vechino, who has admitted committing more than 100 burglaries in the two cities.

Veach was arrested by city and state police here Thursday and confessed several local burglaries, Asst. Police Chief James Mahoney said. After two loaded pistols were found in his luggage, he also admitted committing "at least 100" burglaries in Washington in December and "several" in and around Warren, according to Mahoney.

Veach said one of the pistols was taken from a Warren policeman during a scuffle. The suspect, who had been living in a Washington hotel since last October when he was discharged from the Navy, was visiting relatives here when he was arrested.

Donora 'Hold Up' Is Really not Hold Up

The "hold up" at a Donora service station last Sunday night wasn't exactly a hold up, Donora Police Chief John Pykosh revealed today.

Instead, it was a fake robbery staged by the attendant who said he was robbed at the point of a gun, and two accomplices, the Chief said.

Thomas Zborowski, 16, of 215 Seneca street, Monessen, reportedly has implicated Donald Little, 20, of Gilmore terrace, and Edward Halle, 19, of Grandview terrace, both of Donora.

The fake holdup took place at the Major Distributing Co. station in Donora. Leo Guttman, of Charleroi, owner of the station, has filed information against the trio, charging them with robbery. They are scheduled for a hearing today or tomorrow.

The chief said Little and Halle, both of whom he stated have criminal records, are being held without bond on suspicion of a felony. The Monessen youth has been placed in the custody of his parents.

Zborowski told police Sunday that two men drove up to the station at Eighth street and Meldon avenue and asked for change for a $5 bill. When he dug out a roll of bills, Zborowski claimed the driver pointed a gun at him and demanded all the cash he was carrying — about $150, Pykosh stated.

The chief, however, became suspicious of Zborowski's story and after an hour's questioning the attendant broke down, admitted the robbery and implicated Little and Halle.

Zborowski told police he received $40 as his share, of which he returned $33.38 to Pykosh Wednesday night. The chief said the attendant had $2.22 in his pocket and $31.16 in an ash tray in his car.

The remainder of the loot was split by Little and Halle, both of whom reportedly confessed when rounded up, Pykosh stated.

Attlee Says World Depending Upon English-speaking Peoples

Earl Attlee, former prime minister of Great Britain, told an audience of district Rotarians last night that it is the "job" of the English-speaking peoples to raise the standards of living of underprivileged people throughout the world.

Attlee, 72, is now retired from politics and a member of the House of Lords. He concluded a three-week lecture tour of the United States and was scheduled to return to England today.

He spoke before an audience of about 1,200 Rotarians and their wives and guests at Twin Coaches. Lady Attlee also attended the dinner.

Attlee devoted much of his talk to a description of how Great Britain has made the transition from an imperialist power to a true commonwealth of nations which govern themselves "by consent" and "under the rule of law".

He recalled that he had made the decision that the British should leave India abruptly and "let the people there decide their own destiny". The result, he said, was the development of four separate nations: India, Pakistan, Ceylon and Burma. All but Burma now are members of the British Commonwealth.

Earl Attlee

"The contest in the world today," he said, "is being fought on the field of ideas."

And because Britain and America have a common heritage of freedom under law, a "full understanding between our two countries is necessary to the peace of the world."

Autocracies such as that now ruling Russia, Attlee said, can only be destroyed from within. And he said he knows "on good authority" that the processes of revolution are underway, not only in satellites like Poland and Hungary, but in Soviet Russia itself. Such revolt, he said, must be encouraged.

Attlee cautioned the western world against permitting a breach to develop between the white and colored races.

"We must recognize the rights and dignity of all races," he said.

Attlee praised the United Nations as a peace-making influence but declared that it should not be regarded "as the only possible link in the world". He said the U. N. is not a substitute for direct relations between and among the nations.

Thomas Malpass, Jr., of Belle Vernon, governor of Rotary District 261, arranged the dinner and presided over the program.

British Defense Explained to U. S.

LONDON (UP)—British Defense Minister Duncan Sandys flies to Washington tonight to brief Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson on Britain's sweeping reorganization of its armed forces.

The chief topic of the conference is expected to be Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's plans to build Britain's defense on guided missiles, placing only secondary emphasis on conventional aircraft.

Atomic weapons chief Sir William Penney will accompany Sandys to strengthen Britain's hand in bargaining atomic know-how for American missiles.

Sandys, son-in-law of former Prime Minister Sir Winston Churchill, will take with him the widest powers of any defense minister since Churchill held the post along with the premiership in World War II, Macmillan said Thursday.

He said Sandys' first task will be to formulate "in the light of present strategic needs a defense policy which will secure a substantial reduction in expenditure and manpower."

The prime minister told the House of Commons Sandys will have authority "to give decisions on all matters of policy affecting the size, shape, organization and disposition of the armed forces, their equipment and supply, including the defense research and development and their pay and conditions of service."

He made the statement Thursday in announcing a "substantial reduction" in defense spending and manpower.

To Seek Oil Price Boost

WASHINGTON (UP)—The nation's independent oil producers said today there will have to be further price increases for crude oil and gasoline if America is to maintain adequate domestic supplies.

Robert L. Wood, president of the Independent Petroleum Association of America, told a news conference that producers are losing money at the present crude oil price of about $3.05 a barrel. He said it costs them about $4.00 to replace each barrel they sell.

Wood proposed strict import controls and extension and improvement of pipeline facilities in this country as an added incentive to producers to locate new cources of oil.

If oil production continues to decrease at the current rate, he said, the United States will become more and more dependent on imports and an enemy "would be able to bring us to our knees" by cutting off foreign suppliers.

Wood met with newsmen during an emergency meeting of the group's board of directors.

Earlier today the American Public Power Association called for federal investigation of recent oil price increases to determine whether price controls should be enacted. It also said the investigation should determine whether the price increases involved collusion among the oil companies.

He Can't Understand All the Hullabaloo Over Bergman

By DOC QUIGG

NEW YORK (UP) — Sometimes it seems to me that our public hysteria spasms are getting back to the mass lunacy of the 1920's.

I don't know how it has been in your town, but there has been a heavy hullabaloo in our town recently over a Bergman named Ingrid.

Ingrid Bergman

After 34 highly—and neatly—publicized hours in New York, Miss Bergman departed these shores "weary but smiling," as the papers said.

"If you ask me personally, I say I couldn't care less what Ingrid does — whether she comes, goes, stays put, or shilly-shallies. What earthly difference does it make?

Miss Bergman is an actress—a pretty fair one, with a lovely face and a fetching accent—who had a child by one man while still married to another man. This comes under the category of forthright action, if nothing else.

Dubs Action A "Mistake"

I do not come before you today to discuss morals, religion, or the law. For all I know Miss Bergman may be a paragon of virtue, with the rectitude of a New England church steeple. I believe, however, that she has been quoted as dubbing her action a "mistake." And she said it's how people act after their mistakes that counts.

My interest is in the terrible tizzy thrown by this burg on the occasion of her brief visit. You'll have to pardon me, but I just don't get it. I saw the red engines, but I didn't see the fire.

Before her arrival, she was dinned at us in interviews over radio and television. At the airport, she was interviewed in five languages. She said she had "never regretted anything."

One paeanist wrote: "When she stepped off the plane, she displayed a smile that would melt the heart of an income-tax collector."

That's fine. Let her smile. But let us not go into a kingsize conniption over it. Miss Bergman indicated just before her tired-but-toothy departure for Paris that it would be a pleasure to get back to Europe, where people aren't so hooray-happy over her public and private life and most folks don't give a hoot about her comings and goings.

The next time Ingrid comes here, let us hope it is with some of the quietude that marks the entering and exiting of her once-celebrated fellow countrywoman, G. Garbo. Nothing makes me happier than the fact that Greta has achieved her desire to be alone in public.

If Miss Bergman wants to stay away for almost eight years, that's her choice. But please, let's simmer down and not mob ourselves with curiosity the next time she returns.

In situations such as this, it is a pleasure to recall the item carried by the show-business trade newspaper "Variety" about a wedding last year:

"Married — Grace Kelly to Prince Rainier the 3rd, April 18th and 19th, Monaco. Bride is film star; groom is non-pro."

Fire Companies Fight Turnpike For Higher Fees

POTTSTOWN, Pa. (UP) —Twenty-eight fire companies in communities along the Pennsylvania Turnpike were pledged today to carry their fight for higher fees to the Turnpike Commission at Harrisburg.

The companies, all of which fight fires on the superhighway, operate from communities eastward from Coatesville to the Delaware River and northeastward on the new extension as far as Allentown.

Fourteen of the fire companies operate on a contract basis with the commission with the maximum fee for an individual company set at $200 per year, plus $35 for each fire. All 28 companies are seeking a guarantee of $200 per year for first call companies, $100 annually for second call companies, plus $50 for each fire fought.

The 28 companies in Chester, Montgomery and Bucks Counties last year organized the Eastern Pennsylvania Turnpike Fire Protection Association under the chairmanship of William Ide, Kulpsville, and George Roeschen of Trevose.

The group decided at a meeting in nearby West Point Wednesday night to seek cancellation of the current contracts unless all companies are permitted to contract with the Turnpike Commission under the proposed higher guarantees.

Senate to Open Hearings on Newsprint Boost

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Senate Interstate Commerce Committee plans to open hearings next month on recent boosts in the price of newsprint.

Committee Chairman Warren G. Magnuson (D-Wash) said Thursday publishers, paper manufacturers and government agencies have been asked to testify. He said the hearings starting Feb. 26 "may continue for some time."

He said the recently announced $4-a-ton hike in newsprint prices "imposes a hardship on a great segment of the American press and other newsprint users."

Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn), new chairman of the Senate Anti-Monopoly subcommittee, said earlier the group plans to use some of the $300,000 investigative budget it has requested to look into the newsprint price increases.

Magnuson said his group will study "possible new production sources"—like Alaska—and development of processes for "reusing" paper supplies—like de-inking. He said it also will study the pattern of newsprint prices of present suppliers in recent years.

Magnuson said the free world should "logically" look to America for an adequate supply of newsprint. He said newsprint "is one commodity that the whole world uses and prices should be in reasonable reach so the free world can use it."

'Church Boom' Concentrated In Suburbs and Small Towns

By LOUIS CASSELS

WASHINGTON (UP) — America's "church boom" is heavily concentrated in suburbs and small towns, religious leadres said today.

They reported that while overall U. S. church enrollment has been soaring to an all-time high of more than 100 million, churches in rural areas and in the downtown sections of big cities — the two extremes of population density — have been losing members steadily.

The uneven impact of the back-to-church movement is now under close study by officials of major denominations. Here are some of the facts they have established:

—Most of the thousands of new churches built since World War II have gone up in suburban areas. Even so, the typical suburban church has an overflowing congregation and is casting about for more space.

—During the same period, rural churches have been closing at a rate of nearly 1,000 a year. Many of those still open are struggling for survival with sharply reduced membership and budgets.

—Protestant churches, particularly, are disappearing from the "inner city" at what the National Council of Churches calls "an alarming rate." For example, only two major Protestant churches survive in downtown St. Louis, three in Cleveland's inner city.

Church leaders agree that there is no one, simple explanation of these trends.

Blame Population Shift

Part of the answer — but only part — is the great shift in population that has occurred since the war. The suburbs have swollen enormously, while rural and downtown areas have lost population.

A related factor in the plight of downtown churches is the influx of many Negro residents into neighborhoods formerly occupied almost entirely by whites.

Churches located in these "changing neighborhoods" are confronted with a choice between racial integration or going to the suburbs with their white parishioners.

Some pioneering churches have chosen to stand fast and tackle the problems of achieving "color blind" Christian fellowship. But many more have taken the easier course of selling their valuable downtown land and using the money to relocate in the suburbs.

Diagnosing the trouble of rural churches is more complicated. Dr. James M. Carr of the Presbyterian Church, says they are folding because "they aren't doing the job they're supposed to do" and are "failing to meet the needs of the people."

Dr. Richard O. Comfort of the National Council of Churches, agrees. He said the "anemic" programs are hurting rural churches. A church might have survived once "on a diet of preaching alone," he says, "but that day has long since passed."

Financial Prblem

Denominational leaders were asked why rural churches don't provide vital, well-rounded programs of pastoral counseling, community and youth activities, and kindred services which are the hallmark of the suburban or small town church.

One answer, they say, is the failure of prosperous suburban churches to contribute as much as they could to the financial support of "home missions" in sparsely-settled areas that cannot pay the whole cost of an adequate ministry.

Thousands of rural churches have no full-time minister of their own, but arrange for "preaching on Sunday" by joining with several other churches to share the services of a single minister. In many cases, the ministers assigned to this work are young men fresh out of seminary sent into rural parishes to "gain experience."

Young or old, rural ministers are by far the lowest paid members of the nation's lowest paid profession. A survey conducted in Missouri showed they have an average cash salary of less than $1,500 a year.

Leader Favors Using Arena as Sports Center

HARRISBURG (UP) — Gov. George M. Leader said today he favors using the spacious Farm Show arena for sports events if arrangements can be made.

Leader said at his news conference that the only requirement would be that the sports did not interfere with any other events scheduled for the exposition buildings. "The more the Farm Show buildings are used the better we can carry the overhead," the governor said.

The Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association has indicated interest in holding its late season statewide championship basketball tournament at the arena if it had a floor. Cost of the floor has been placed at around $30.000.

Seek Victims of Factory Fire

Four Dead, Five Others Missing

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (UP) — Firemen today searched the ruins of a four-story garment factory building for five additional victims of a flash fire already known to have claimed the lives of four women garment workers.

Three men and two women were reported missing and feared to have died in the flames.

Thirty-three others—29 of them women—were injured in the general alarm blaze, and at least 10 were reported in critical condition. Some victims tried to escape with clothes and hair aflame.

The known dead and injured were engulfed by fire during a panicky rush to descend a fire escape of the 50-year-old structure, situated about ten blocks from midtown New Haven. Fire Marshal Eugene J. Mulligan said "panic, as much as anything else," appeared to be responsible for the deaths and injuries.

Blaze Quickly Controlled

Two of the bodies were found on a third-floor landing of the fire escape, after the fire, which swept the building in 20 minutes, was brought under control. The other two victims, their bodies wreathed by flames, fought their way from the building but died en route to a hospital.

About 300 persons were inside the building when the fire broke out late Thursday afternoon on the first floor of the building which housed clothing, plastics and machinery firms.

The bodies recovered were identified as those of Mrs. Angela Di Rienzo, 18, a bride of three months; Miss Alma Bradley, 46; Miss Jean Pitman, 42, all of New Haven; and Mrs. Jessie Mongillo, 42, of suburban Hamden.

Listed as missing were Joseph Nastri of Hamden; Thelma Lynn, of West Haven; Morris Baehr of Woodbridge; Herbert Horowitz of Ansonia, and Josephine Maretta and Jo Ann Inge of New Haven.

Flames Spread Quickly

Less than five minutes after the fire's discovery, flames had turned the dilapidated structure into an inferno of stampeding, shrieking women. Those on the first two floors quickly escaped, but employes of garment firms on the upper floors fled down two fire escapes, but flames blocked their paths. Many leaped or fell to the ground when one of the escapes jammed at a second floor landing. Others were saved by firemen.

Finding their paths blocked by flames, some of the women, their dresses ablaze, became hysterical and tried to retreat up the fire escapes. Most were pulled to safety by firemen.

During the midst of the evacuation, a huge tongue of flame burst through a window, enveloping a score of women.

"Some of them were caught and just seemed to burn up there," an eyewitness, John H. Acampora, operator of a nearby liquor store, said.

"Some tried to turn around and go back . . . but couldn't make it."

'EMANCIPATED' — Barbara Ann Burns, 18, daughter of the late comedian Bob Burns, is shown in court in Los Angeles after becoming an "emancipated minor." Her support suit against her mother was settled when Barbara Ann agreed to accept $200 a month till she's 21, plus $1,000 a year for clothes.

Eisenhowers in Reception for Diplomatic Corps

WASHINGTON (UP)—President and Mrs. Eisenhower Thursday night opened the first White House social season in two years with a brilliant reception for the diplomatic corps.

Star guests of the evening included the stunning Begum Aga Khan, wearing a 52 carat diamond ring; Russian Ambassador Georgi N. Zaroubin, unadorned in a sea of beribboned and bemedalled colleagues, and petite singer Lily Pons.

Promptly at 9:15 p.m. President Eisenhower in white tie and tails and the first lady, wearing her citron yellow inaugural ball gown, descended the marble staircase to the red-carpeted first-floor hallway. With a color guard leading the way, they proceeded to the glittering east ballroom where their 1,200 guests were assembled behind velvet ropes.

The scarlet-coated Marine Band struck up "Hail to the Chief" as the Eisenhowers paused. Then the President and first lady walked through to the Blue Room, formed a receiving line and the party was on.

The Eisenhowers last entertained at a state affair in January, 1955, at another diplomatic reception — the last White House party before the President's heart attack nine months later. This year's late-starting curtailed season will include three receptions and three dinners before ending on March 4.

AEC Planning New Series of Nuclear Tests

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Atomic Energy Commission is planning to hold a new series of atomic tests in Nevada late this spring apparently involving nuclear anti-aircraft weapons.

The AEC said Thursday in announcing the series that it would involve "low yield" tests.

It said a "major objective" of the tests would deal with "weapons for defense against attack."

The commission said the exact date for starting the test series will be announced later. Newsmen will be permitted "limited on-site reportage" of some of the explosions just as they were during the last Nevada tests in 1955.

The AEC also announced that during the year it will conduct separate Nevada tests related to the safety of various weapons and experimental devices "in the event of accidents such as fires during handling or storage" of nuclear materials.

Bus Wrecked by Fire on Rt. 51

PITTSBURGH (UP)— A Clairton-to-Pittsburgh bus of the Noble J. Dick Lines was wrecked by fire Friday night on Route 51 in nearby Whitehall. No one was injured.

Paul Surcini, Clairton, the driver, pulled the vehicle to the curb at Old Clairton Road after the fire broke out, and he and his only passenger got out.

As the bus burned, the air brakes gave way and the flaming bus rolled down Route 51 for about 100 feet, just missing some 20 autos lined up on the highway. It crossed the highway, jumped the curb at Maxwell Drive and came to a halt.

Whitehall police said a company official estimated the loss at $10,000 to $12,000.

Red Soldiers Desert Hungarian Garrisons

VIENNA (UP) — Hundreds of Russian soldiers were reported today to have deserted Red army garrisons in Hungary to escape into Yugoslavia.

Refugees from southern Hungary estimated at least 500 Red soldiers made the break for freedom in recent weeks. They said most of the Russians had deserted the garrison at Baja, a Danube River town some 15 miles from the Hungarian-Yugoslav frontier.

The refugees said the desertions became almost a mass flight around Jan. 15 but could give no reason.

Similar reports of wholesale desertions by Russian troops have proved almost impossible to confirm in the past because the deserters probably shed their uniforms for civilian clothes and, once across the border, vanished into the countryside.

A United Nations official in Geneva said more and more Hungarian refugees now are moving into Yugoslavia than into Austria because the increased Communist patrols on the Austrian frontier had made crossing difficult.

Reports leaking out of Hungary indicated that the puppet Janos Kadar regime is still being harassed by active resistance.

A new flareup of partisan activity was reported in the restive province of Borsod, in northeastern Hungary. According to the reports Soviet tank-reinforced Hungarian militiamen carried out a major sweep against Hungarian freedom-fighters in the hills near the city of Eger on Jan. 18. Some 200 partisans were captured, the reports said.

Earlier reports reaching Vienna said four partisans shot and killed four secret police officers in a recent clash at Miskolc, east of Eger.

Heroic Nurse Saves Live of Woman in River

WHEELING, W. Va. (UP)—As three men watched from the bridge railing above, a heroic young nurse leaped into the frigid waters of Wheeling Creek early today and saved a drowning woman.

The quick-thinking and daring rescuer was Kay Guthrie, 21, of Cameron, W. Va., who was driving home with her boy friend when they heard shouts of the men standing on the Chapline Street Bridge over Wheeling Creek here.

Leaping from the car as it slowed to a stop, Miss Guthrie headed for the bank of the creek, kicking off her shoes as she ran. Without hesitation she plunged into the rain-swollen creek, swam out about 15 feet, and pulled the woman to shore.

Police said later the victim, Forence Fisher, 41, of Wheeling, had leaped into the creek from the bridge, a 37-foot drop, in an apparent suicide attempt.

The petite Miss Guthrie, who weighs only 105 pounds, shrugged off the fact she showed up the unresponsive males who had seen the woman.

"It was just a question of who acted first," she said. "It happened so fast, I didn't think about danger."

State Authority To Become Model

HARRISBURG (UP)—The Pennsylvania Industrial Development Authority, which loans money to non-profit corporations to spur the building and expansion of industry, may become a model for neighboring states seeking new industries.

Commerce Secretary William R Davlin said today that a current proposal in the West Virginia Legislature to create a state industrial development authority is a carbon copy of the Commonwealth's project. Davlin said the imitation was the "sincerest form of flattery."

The PIDA has made 15 loan commitments totaling more than $2,000,000 to set up and expand industries since it went into operation last August.

Drafting Changes for School Reorganization

HARRISBURG (UP)—A special advisory committee of the State Council of Education has drafted major changes in its proposed reorganization of the state's school administration system.

A total of 37 regional service areas were planned originally to replace the present county level of administration. Under the amendments drafted by the committee at its meeting here Thursday, 47 areas would be assigned for easier administration.

The major changes to the proposed plan were:

1. Easing requirements for formation of a service area.
2. Special provisions for formation of a service area in sparsely populated regions.
3. Elimination of a 1962 terminal date for the formation of the districts.

All of the changes, the council said, were based on recommendations of county superintendents at a hearing held by the committee in December.

The purpose of the reorganization is to provide all areas of the state with all of the educational and recreational facilities now generally available only in the larger counties.

Each area would be managed by a board of directors elected from school districts within the area. A superintendent would be elected by the board, and a school directors association consisting of all school directors within the area would advise the elected officials.

County superintendents and assistant superintendents not elected as regional superintendents would become staff coordinators until the expiration of their current terms, after which time they may be reappointed by the board.

If the plan is adopted by the council at its meeting Jan. 30, it will be presented to Gov. George M. Leader for submission to the state Legislature.

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Supt. of Police James W. Slusser not only knows today what was behind the green door of the Beacon Club. He also has the door.

Five Day Forecast

Congress Takes Action Against Union Leader

WASHINGTON (UP)—Sen John L. McClellan (D-Ark) said today a recommended contempt of Congress citation against a powerful West Coast Teamsters' union leader is "only the beginning."

McClellan's racket - hunting Senate Investigation subcommittee called Thursday for contempt action against Frank. W. Brewster of Seattle. This will be followed, McClellan said today, by similar action against other Teamster officials who, like Brewster, refused to answer questions put to them by the subcommittee on the ground that the group lacked authority to ask them.

If the Senate approves the citation recommendations, they will go to the Justice Department for prosecution.

The subcommittee charged that Brewster displayed contempt of Congress when he refused to answer questions last Saturday and also refused to obey a subpena to produce financial records of the Western Conference of Teamsters and the union's Joint Council 28, Seattle.

He is head of both groups, which are subordinate units of the nation's biggest union, the 1.4-million member International Brotherhood of Teamsters.

Senate leaders were still trying today to work out a compromise on setting up a special committee to continue the McClellan subcommittee's investigation of labor racketeering.

Ready for Attack

MIAMI BEACH (UP)—President James B. Carey of the Electrical Workers girded today for any counter attack by Teamsters officials he criticized for declining to testify before a congressional inquiry.

Carey's armor of a possible feud with Dave Beck's Teamsters consisted mainly of a new "code of ethical practices" he forged for his International Union of Electrical Workers.

His code, Carey announced Thursday, is "without precedent as a comprehensive document" covering labor unions' organizational and administrative work, management of funds, and administration of welfare programs.

"Under the IUE concept a person who uses the Fifth Amendment to avoid answering questions would invite automatic investigations and trial by the unions," Carey said.

This statement was made in comment about two Teamsters union officials who refused to testify last week before a committee headed by Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark)

Carey also blasted Beck, Maurice Hutchinson of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America; Dave Dubinsky of the International Ladies' Garment Workers Union, and Dick Walsh of the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employes and Moving Picture Machine Operators of the United States and Canada for not signing the no-raiding pact drawn up at the time of the AFL-CIO merger.

Each official is a member of the AFL-CIO Executive Council which begins a 10-day session here Monday.

Jet Bomber Sets Flight Record for Crossing U.S.

Takes Advantage Of 'Jet Stream' For New Record

BEDFORD, Mass. (UP)—A new coast-to-coast flight record — 3 hours and 46 minutes — was set today by an Air Force jet bomber with the aid of the "jet stream."

The B47 flashed over the marker at Hanscom Air Base here at 9 04 a.m. (EST) after covering 2,650 miles from March Air Base, Calif

The Air Force said that the time was one minute better than the record set by a fighter plane in 1955, and 30 minutes faster than the bomber record of 4 hours and 6 minutes.

It took the plane 15 minutes to land from an altitude of 35,000 feet over the airport. The plane ejected two parachutes to brake the landing

Piloted by Maj Mont Smith of Arlington, Mass, the B47 had left March Air Force Base at 5:17 a.m. EST.

The plane had reported its speed as m.p h. over Vandalia, Ill. It was flying at 35,000 feet over Gardner. Mass, some 40 miles west of its destination.

Crash crews were lined up along the 7,500-foot runway here as the big ship came down to a perfect landing at 9 19 a m.

The jet's crew had been studying for three years the jet stream, a river of air that flows across the country from west to east at 25,000 feet above the earth and higher. The Air Force Cambridge research center, which has headquarters here, mapped the jet stream to prepare for today's flight.

Air Force officials said the jet stream at times can give planes a 250-mile-an-hour boost The Air Force hoped that through flights such as today's it could find ways to use the jet stream for routine operations.

Last fall Major Smith and his crew flew from an Air Force base in Washington state to Florida, averaging 650 miles an hour for the 2 600 mile flight.

Boys Admit to 'Bomb Hoax'

NEW CASTLE Pa (UP)—Two boys have admitted a "bomb hoax" which resulted in evacuation of 9,000 students from the city's 14 schools They told police they did it "as a lark"

The boys 17 and 18 years in age and both students at New Castle Senior High School, were arrested by police Thursday after the officers ran down numerous leads.

Police Chief George Rigby withheld the boys' names.

Students in the city's schools were sent home Thursday after police received a telephone call that a bomb had been planted in one of the schools. None was found.

RED INDICTMENT — Marie Reed Haug, 42, shown in action during one of the many labor disturbances in which she has starred, is one of eight persons indicted in Cleveland for plotting to evade the Taft-Harley act by lying about Communist affiliations. She was an officer of the leftist-dominated United Electrical Workers, which went into the International Association of Machinists. Among others indicted were her husband, Fred Haug, 50, and famed Communists Gus Hall (now in prison) of Ohio and Steve Nelson of Pennsylvania.

PTA Holds Meeting With MEA at School

The annual combined meeting for the Monessen Parent Teacher Association unit and the Monessen Education Association was held last night at the High School auditorium.

An organ recital by Marla Thur preceded the session, which was opened by the PTA president, W. R. H. Patterson.

The program included an entertainment interlude featuring Juanita Carter as soloist and Veronica Zelenak in a ballet dance. Miss Carter sang "Brown Bird Singing" and "Over the Rainbow". She was accompanied by Reah Seanor.

Presented as the first of two speakers was Swinda Waldman, Monessen High School's exchange student from Austria. She was in her native attire and gave a resume of a day in her life at school in Vienna.

The guest speaker was Mrs. Bethel C. Lutz, of Charleroi, Junior High School librarian. Mrs. Lutz spent six weeks attending a teacher's workshop at the University of Oslo in Norway. She drew a sharp contrast in the educational system here and in Norway and described the system followed abroad where school is not compulsory. She described the high standard of education and stressed the fact that students must qualify in order to attend.

High School Principal Henry Furio spoke concerning the exchange student project and urged the members to volunteer to provide a home for a student if possible. He announced that restrictions are not difficult to meet and asked Mrs. Everett Vernnacini to describe the conditions you must meet to be acceptable to the American Field Service, which is in charge of the exchange program.

The local students provide the transportation expenses for a student coming here and it is a project of Student Council. The Vernacinni's have provided a home for the two exchange students, who have attended Monessen High School.

Patterson, in behalf of the unit, presented John Lancas, president of the School Board with a certificate of ownership for the audiometer presented to the school. The unit will now start to raise funds for the purchase of refrigerated drinking fountains for the elementary buildings.

The hospitality committtee served refreshments.

Chian Societies Plan Convention In This District

The 14th national convention of United Chian Societies will be held in McKeesport and Monessen on July 3-7.

Gust Melissas, of Monessen, has been named general chairman for the affair. Headquarters will be at the Penn McKee Hotel in McKeesport. Delegates from throughout the country are expected to attend.

The following foreign guests have been invited:

Constantinos Amandos, dean of Athens University in Greece; Stefanos Kavuagos, superintendent of Korais Library and Chios High School, both in Chios, a Greek island; Philip Argentis, a professor of London, England; Dr. George Satropos, of Chios; Governor Nickalos Aronis, and Mayor Pete Patelidas of Chios.

The Chain Societies all over the country have been formed to raise funds for philanthropic and educational purposes.

The local "Omonoia" chapter contributed six busts of famous Greek philosophers to the Monessen High School Library in 1951. The busts are of Korais, Homer, Plato, Socrates, Hippocratis and Demonsthenis.

The president of National Chian Societies is D. Costalos of New York. Other officers of the convention who are aiding Melissas, the president, are Sam Mestausis, McKeesport, vice-president; Mike Kolakis, McKeesport, secretary, and Emanuel Brouzakis, Monessen, treasurer.

Dr. Litchfield Says Corporations To Become Pillar

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Dr. Edward H. Litchfield, University of Pittsburgh chancellor, believes the American corporation will someday take a place along with the Church, the school and the government as the "four pillars of our society."

Dr. Litchfield told more than 2,000 persons attending the 55th annual banquet of the Traffic Club of Pittsburgh that "some of our views of the corporation have not changed as rapidly as the corporation."

Corporations, he said, are growing bigger and are becoming more and more public institutiosn as evidenced by the steady growth in stock ownership. They also have become "multifunctional" as they adopt diversification, he said.

"There is no more effective answer to the Communists that this...that the corporation automatically adapted to changing needs," Litchfield declared.

He said corporations do 75 per cent of the nation's scientific research and play a "major role in the discovery of new knowledge and a significant role in the teaching of the old."

State to Inspect For Fire Hazards

HARRISBURG (UP)—The state Public Instruction Department has started an inspection of some 547 public schools in the state suspected of being fire hazards and structurally unsafe.

The department said today that survey teams, directed by Ivan J. Stehman, began their tours of the schools Wednesday. The buildings, all elementary schools, were those cited as "unsatisfactory" by a federal survey in 1952, which found some 3,300 schools in the state below par.

Valley Bridge Club in Annual Dinner, Game

The seventh annual dinner and duplicate game was held by the Magic City Bridge Club last night at the Charleroi Elks Club.

Other officers for 1957 also assumed their duties, Belva Ketchem, vice-president; Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Porter, treasurers; Mrs. Frederic Feldman, secretary.

Mrs. Fiscus made the trophy presentations for the past year to Mrs. Joseph H. Carazola, Gene and Boots trophy; Dr. J. H. Carazola, Rosenberg trophy; Mrs. E. J. Feeney and Joe Fillingham, tied for the Wolfe Brothers trophy and Dr. William E. Trezise, Lee Norne. In case of tie, duplicate trophies were presented.

Cost of Living at Record Level Again

WASHINGTON (UP)—The cost of living rose to a record level again last month to make consumer prices at the end of 1956 almost 3 per cent higher than December, 1955, the government reported today.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics' consumer price index rose two-tenths of one per cent between November and December to a new high of 118 per cent of average 1947-49 prices.

The index set new records in six of the last seven months of 1956.

The new increase also means cost of living pay boosts ranging from 1 to 3 cents an hour for around 500,000 workers in trucking and other transport industries, and the electrical and aircraft factories. Wage contracts in those industries contain escalator clauses tied to the price index.

The Bureau o fLabor Statistics also reported that the average factory workers' take-home pay and the purchasing power of his paycheck rose to record levels in December, despite the rise in the cost of living.

At the year's end, the average factory take-home pay was almost 2 per cent higher than in November and about 5 per cent higher over the year.

The purchasing power of the average factory pay check stood at 125.5 per cent of the 1947-49 average.

The BLS said higher housing costs were the main factor in the cost of living increase last month. BLS Commissioner Ewan Clague said rents increased more than usual and "it looks as though they are beginning to reflect" the rise in home owners' costs, particularly interest rates.

Clague said he would not look for much change in the price index in early 1957. But he said he would not predict any decline now, although he would have earlier.

The BLS reported that in addition to rent increases, other housing costs rose in prices of home maintenance and repair, coal, fuel oil, gas and electricity, some household furnishings, laundry, dry cleaning, and domestic service.

Prices of food and clothing were unchanged from November on the average. Transportation costs declined slightly because of "moderately" lower prices for new and used cars, and for gasoline in some cities as a result of price wars.

Clague said new car prices at the end of the year averaged around 6½ per cent higher than in December, 1955, at the dealer level. But he added that discounts were being made to encourage sales and that the discounts might increase early this year.

The BLS noted that the cost of living broke through a two-year period of stability in 1956. The price index has risen 3 6 per cent since January, 1953, with most of the increase occurring in the last half of last year.

Prison Inspection

HARRISBURG (UP)—State officials will conduct a final inspection of the new gate house at the Rockview State Penitentiary on Jan. 31.

Lions in Plans for Minstrel

Preliminary plans were advanced for the annual Lions Club Minstrel Show to be presented in the spring, when the club met for a dinner session in the Slovak Home last night.

Joe Lancas and Bill Dragan will be the general chairmen and they announced the following chairmen of minstrel committees, James (Scoop) Altemare, production; Glen Chew, program booklet; Ross Aiello, advertising and publicity.

President William Essey was in charge and the song leader was Joe Lancas. Invocation was by David Victoria and John Abernethy was welcomed as a new member.

Ladies Night

Plans were announced for a Ladies Night in the form of a Valentine party on Feb. 7 with Bob Schrag as chairman.

Joseph Venneri announced that an inter-club meeting is being planned for March 7 and invitations have been extended to the Lions Clubs of Belle Vernon, Washington Township, Rostraver, Smithton, Scottdale and Mt. Pleasant to attend.

A collection of $29 32 was taken for the March of Dimes drive.

After the business session the club members were guests of the management at the Manos Theatre to see the picture, "The Wrong Man".

Actor Fined for Firing Rifle at Neighbor's Tractor

HOLLYWOOD (UP)— Actor Michael O'Shea has been fined $250 and given a 30-day suspended jail sentence for firing a rifle at a neighbor's tractor when his Irish temper exploded last Nov. 7.

The actor also was placed on three years probation Thursday by Municipal Judge parks Stillwell and warned that he might go to jail if he used firearms again to settle disputes with his neighbors.

O'Shea, husband of actress Virginia Mayo, admitted he fired a .22 caliber rifle at the tractor's rear tires while it was being operated by his neighbor's son, Richard Morrison, 13. But the actor claimed he took the action because the boy had been racing the tractor on the property and endangering the life of the O'Sheas' daughter, Mary Catherine, 3.

Four British Students Held By Russians

VIENNA (UP)—Four British students missing since entering Hungary from Yugoslavia two weeks ago "undoubtedly" have been arrested by the Russians, reliable British sources said today.

One of the students is Miss Judith Cripps, 18-year-old granddaughter of the late British Chancellor of the Exchequer Sir Stafford Cripps. The others were identified as three Oxford undergraduates.

The students all carried valid visas when they entered Hungary from Yugoslavia in an automobile Jan. 14. They were last seen leaving a hotel at Szeged Jan. 15 with the announced intention of calling at the local Soviet army command post.

Scout Program Is Outlined

Plans for an extensive program of Boy Scout troop organization and leadership training courses were formulated Wednesday evening at a special conference of district officers of the Westmoreland-Fayette Council.

Richard Potter, national director of leadership training and C. M. Tribur, deputy regional executive, representing the home office of the Boy Scouts of America presided. Twenty-seven men attended.

The need for 90 additional Boy Scout troops to serve the fast-growing boy population of the two counties was shown with a series of charts. Plans for their organization were fully explained by Potter and by Tom Ewing, scout executive.

These additional troops are expected to bring 2,000 additional boys into Scouting during the next three years.

A program of leadership training for the new leaders of these proposed units as well as new leaders in existing units was also planned. The first courses in the series are expected to begin in April. The new training plan just released by the National Council is to be used for leaders of Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts and Explorers.

Tribur spoke of the excellent results being obtained here with Explorer Posts and urged the continuation of this program. He also pointed out the opportunities for Explorers and adults at Philmont Scout Ranch in New Mexico. It is customary for several groups from this Council to attend each year.

3 Memorials

In loving memory of our dear wife, mother and grandmother, Mrs. Berugna Dobas, who died two years ago today, January 25, 1955

Form this world of trouble and sorrow
To the land of peace and rest,
God has taken our beloved mother
Where she has found eternal rest.
We often sit and think of her
When we are all alone,
For memory is the only thing
That grief can call its own
In our lonely hours of thinking
Thoughts of you are always near,
We, who loved you, sadly miss you
As it dawns another year.

Sadly missed by Husband, Daughter, Son, Son-in-law, and Grandchildren

'Blew His Stack' After Leaving The Marine Corps

ERIE, Pa. (UP) — Frank H. Sauveur, 28, who told police he "just blew my stack" after leaving the Marines, was sentenced to jail Thursday on a third bad check charge.

Judge Samuel Y Rossiter sentenced him to two to four years in the Allegheny County Workhouse for passing a bogus check here in the amount of $52.50.

Sauveur previously served four months in Centre County and six months in Venango County for bad checks passed at State College and Oil City. He is wanted in Harrisburg on a similar charge.

Sauveur was discharged from the Marines as a sergeant early in 1956 after nine years service, including combat service in World War II and Korea.

He told police he left a family at Charlottesville, Va.

Midwest Blanketed By Snow, Arctic Air

By UNITED PRESS

A two-to-four-inch snowfall hit the Midwest today and headed for the Atlantic coastal section from New York to Virginia.

Freezing rains accompanied the storm, adding to the hazardous driving conditions in the nation's midlands.

A new wave of arctic air gripped the north where temperatures ranged from 20 to 30 degrees below zero.

The snow piled up in a wide band from the Rockies across the central plains and into the Great Lakes region. Freezing rains plagued an area from southwest Iowa to St. Louis, Mo.

Further south, heavy rains pelted the lower Mississippi Valley with some amounts ranging from one-half to one inch. Lighter rains fell in eastern Texas and Arkansas as colder air pushed as far south as northern Texas

Weathermen said the band of snowfall will spread eastward during the day, with accumulations expected from New York to Virginia. Rain was seen for the southeast from Florida to the Carolinas

Snow also was expected to continue over most of the central and southern plains, the Midwest and the Appalachians, and in the Northwest from the Rockies to the coastal section.

Meanwhile, rivers continued to rise in sections of the Midwest and East despite the colder weather.
weather.

The Green River climbed to two to three feet above flood stage near Bowling Green, Ky., Thursday, and the high water was expected to surge downstream to Woodbury, Ky., by Saturday.

Some minor flooding occurred in tributaries in the Ohio and Tennessee Valleys. A rise in the Connecticut River and its tributaries caused lowland flooding.

Alcoa Planning Big Lab Near New Kensington

PITTSBURGH (UP)—The Aluminum Company of America is acquiring options on land in Westmoreland County as a possible site for expanded research facilities.

Alcoa did not specify the size of the land, located near Merwin, but was understood to have lined up 1 000 acres and to be seeking options on another 1 500 acres.

James P. Haight, vice president and chief engineer, said Alcoa's present research and development sites in New Kensington may not be adequate in the next 25 years.

He emphasized no decision to expand at any particular site has been reached. Other possible sites in the New Kensington area also are being considered, he said.

Skid Row Romeo Questioned in Slaying

CHICAGO (UP) — Authorities today questioned a Skid Row Romeo and painstakingly tracked down scores of other tips in an all-out effort to find the killer of two teen-aged sisters.

Sheriff's police said a lie detector test given Edward Lee (Benny) The Dishwasher) Bedwell, 21, proved "inconclusive." He was held for further questioning and investigation.

The nude and crumpled bodies of Barbara Grimes, 15, and her sister, Patricia, 13, were found Tuesday in a ditch on the city's southwest suburbs.

Benny, who sports a duck-tail haircut and Elvis Presley sideburns, has denied any connection with the slaying.

At least three persons reported seeing the girls with Benny two days after they disappeared Dec. 28 after attending a Presley movie The part-time dishwasher admitted taking two teen-aged girls on a tour of Skid Row bars then, but said he was certain they were not the Grimes sisters.

Police checked out a report that the girls may have been alive as late as Jan. 14, eight days before their murder was discovered.

Mrs. Wallace Tollstam said a "frightened and depressed" Patricia telephoned her daughter early that morning. She said the caller, whose voice she recognized as that of Patricia, asked:

"Is that you Sandra? Is Sandra there?"

Mrs. Tollstam said her daughter Sandra, 13, and Patricia were close friends. She said she awakened her daughter because the voice sounded so frightened and depressed, but the caller hung up before Sandra reached the phone.

Your Health–

Exertion and Emotion Are Causes of Fatigue

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

Are you tired? I mean really tired?

If you are, it's a pretty good bet that you are emotionally upset. I don't mean you're "off your rocker", but you probably have had an emotional experience very recently.

A couple of experts in this business of fatigue. Dr Arthur G Bills, head of the University of Cincinnati's psychology department, and his co-worker, Dr James Vaughn, say the majority of cases of fatigue are the result of both exertion and emotion.

Only if you are a thoroughly mature person, they report — and there are relatively few of this type — is your fatigue without some element of conflict or emotion. Frequently, persons under strong emotional strain for a lengthy period will suffer complete exhaustion.

Actual tests tend to bear this out It was found that a group of medical students studying for important exams gave evidence of excessive release of adrenalin which left them weak and fatigued.

Your mind can become tired just as your body can. If you think too much and too hard you might develop nervous fatigue. But I don't imagine many of us are troubled with that.

You can usually tell when you are becoming fatigued even before your physical tiredness. You will become bored with what you're doing and you'll probably be in-attentive. Naturally, this will decrease your ability to perform whatever it is you have to do.

What can you do to keep from becoming fatigued? Dr. Bills has some suggestions:

If you are a student, you can do your studying in quiet surroundings. You should have good light and all your equipment right at hand. These are pretty good suggestions no matter what you have to do

If you are a factory worker. make sure you are performing your job the most efficient way. If you have some ideas on how to improve your performance or make your chores easier, let the boss know. He realizes it's good business to keep your job from becoming monotonous.

No matter what your job, your toughest chore probably awaits you at home after work — how to get the kids to bed and make them stay there. I'll tell you tomorrow

Ray Bolger to Break Out of Afternoon Slot

NEW YORK (UP)—Ray Bolger, saddled with an awkward Sunday afternoon TV slot, will break out of it later this season with four special evening shows.

A dancer with a rubber body and a four-way stretch face, Bolger has languished this semester in a time period better suited to forums than frolic.

However, NBC-TV will convert Bolger into one of the night people this March 9, March 20, June 4 and June 13 for a quartet of one-hour productions in prime time spots

"Our show got a late start (Oct 21) and as a result, we wound up in the Sunday afternoon time spot," explained Bolger. "Naturally. I did have some fear and trepidation about it.

"I know myself that on a sunny Sunday afternoon, I like to get out of the house, take a drive, get out in the country And I'm sure a lot of people feel the same way.

'Partners in Progress'

THE PEOPLE of Monessen and vicinity can find a great deal to think about in the talk which Allison R. Maxwell, Jr., the new president of Pittsburgh Steel Co., made before the Chamber of Commerce Wednesday evening

The subject itself tends to provoke thought—"Partners in Progress", the reference being to the partnership that must exist among a company, its employes and the community if any of them is to make sound progress. For all sensible people recognize that none of them can make this kind of progress — at least not over the long term — unless all do.

Mr. Maxwell provided a timely review of Pittsburgh Steel's recent history. Much of this is known to us, of course, but it is well to recall that the company has been dramatically rescued from its marginal status and transformed into a vigorous new factor in the steel industry. The importance of this to Monessen and to the Monongahela Valley would be impossible to exaggerate.

Mr. Maxwell did not say it in so many words, but many of his listeners must have been aware that the time of serious testing for Pittsburgh Steel and its ability to compete profitably may not now be far away. Economists are pretty well agreed that before this year is out the steel industry may be engaged in the most intense competition it has had since the Korean War.

Such competition, besides demonstrating how sound has been the planning of the recent plant improvements, will also test the skill of the company's leadership and, perhaps most important of all, the bonds of partnership between the company and its production employes.

* * *

MR. MAXWELL pointed out that the average Pittsburgh Steel employe receives wages higher than the average for the steel industry. But this can continue soundly, he said, "only when each Pittsburgh Steel worker produces proportionately more than does his counterpart in other steel companies". And "if our employes and their representatives try to get more and more money for less and less individual effort and output, we're all heading for trouble".

Undoubtedly Mr. Maxwell is correct about this, but we are frank to say we see little in the labor-management relationships in the steel industry to encourage one to believe that from company to company there is going to be much variation in the level of production performance.

Rather, it seems to us, the tendency is to conform to an industry-wide pattern which often bears little relation to the competitive positions of the individual companies.

The essential features of Pittsburgh Steel's labor relations, for example, are worked out in concert with several other companies. And whether this is a matter of choice or whether it is made necessary by the fact that all must deal with a handful of national leaders of a gigantic union rather than with their own employes does not change the fact that there is little room at present for individuality in the industry's labor-management relations.

We wonder, then, how realistic it is for Mr. Maxwell to ask or expect exceptional performance in the plants of Pittsburgh Steel. And we hope Pittsburgh Steel's future is not too much dependent upon such performance.

* * *

IN HIS references to Pittsburgh Steel's role in the community, Mr. Maxwell seemed to us to be speaking as an outsider — an interested one, to be sure, but still an outsider.

What he said, of course, about Pittsburgh Steel's "responsibility for the economic climate of Monessen," including the local taxes the company pays, is all true and important.

But when Mr. Maxwell spoke of "assistance" from Pittsburgh Steel in civic programs, of sharing "your" dreams of community betterment and added that communities should "do their own jobs" rather than have these done by their industries, we got a distinct impression of a limited rather than a full partnership between Pittsburgh Steel and Monessen.

We hope this impression is dispelled as Mr. Maxwell's policies take more definite shape. We hope he will be speaking soon, not of "your" dreams for a better Monessen, but of "our" dreams. We hope he will see that Pittsburgh Steel's role in this work ought to be, not just "assistance" by a sympathetic bystander but the full participation of a dedicated citizen.

We have our doubts, quite frankly, whether this kind of participation can be achieved as part of a routine "public relations" program supervised from an executive suite in a Pittsburgh skyscraper. In fact, we think Monessen, as well as many other American industrial communities, can get along without much of the "public relations" to which they are now subjected.

We hope Mr. Maxwell will reject this approach and that he and his associates will throw themselves into the work of building a better community, not because it is the smart and accepted thing to do from a business standpoint, but because the future of their own homes and families is involved.

If they will try to see things this way, Monessen will not be just another mill town on the Monongahela looking like scores of other mill towns, but an outstandingly progressive community. And Pittsburgh Steel will not be just another steel company traipsing along with all the other steel companies, but an outstanding company operating in an exceptional environment of which it and its leaders are integral parts.

Some may say that this is a foolish vision which runs counter to the economics and the historical patterns of the steel industry. But this newspaper happens to believe that this vision is a practical possibility, and until we have convinced ourselves otherwise, we shall continue to hold it before our readers from time to time.

Behind The News—

New Soviet 'Line' Revealed

By CHARLES M. McCANN

Russia's new policy line is taking shape rapidly in the Soviet Union, the satellite countries and the Communist parties of Western Europe.

The new policy, made necessary by the Polish and Hungarian revolts, was worked out during the recent visit to Moscow of Chinese Red Premier Chou En-lai.

It is aimed primarily at ending the unrest and the movement to ward "independent Communism" which resulted from the denunciation of the late Josef Stalin.

Also, it evidently is aimed at making sure that the big Communist parties of France and Italy follow the lead of Moscow in party matters.

Leaders Touring USSR

Inside Russia, all first rank leaders are touring the various republics of the Soviet Union, making speeches, showing themselves to the people and conferring with government and party officials.

In Hungary and East Germany, Red authorities have adopted a frankly tough policy.

Hungarian Puppet Premier Janos Kadar has started a program of merciless repression.

East German Red leaders have announced repeatedly that any attempt at revolt will be smashed with all the force of the armed police forces and the Russian occupation army.

Czechoslovak Communist leaders are to go to Moscow Friday to get their orders for the new policy line. Delegations from Bulgaria and other satellites already have been there.

Two leaders of the Italian Communist Party, the largest outside the Iron Curtain, went to Moscow last week for a conference. A delegation of the French party, which ranks next to that of Italy in size, is to go soon.

The big victory of Wladyslaw Gomulka, Poland's new independent Communist leader, apparently ended any hope that Russians might have that they could bring Poland back into line.

But in the remaining Communist countries of Eastern Europe, "Stalinist" leaders — those who oppose any liberalization of Red regimes — seem to be firmly in control.

It is evident that, under the new policy, they will try to discourage by any means necessary any attempt to break away from Moscow dictation.

It's a Fact—

Andorra is a republic in a valley of the Pyrenees under the suzerainty of France and the Spanish Bishop of Urgel. It has enjoyed undistributed sovereignty since 1278 and was granted a constitution as a republic by Napoleon in 1806.

Montana's state flower, Lewisia, takes its name from Meriwether Lewis of the Lewis and Clark expedition. Better known as bitterroot, the pink flower ranges from Montana to Arizona.

Eisenhower's Two Objectives

By ROSCOE DRUMMOND

The two objectives which, above all others, will dominate Dwight Eisenhower's second term in the presidency are these:

To devote himself almost wholly to trying to build a peace which can last out the 20th century, or longer, and which can ease the crushing burden of tension and armaments.

Mr. Drummond

To reshape the Republican party so that it will have a fair chance of being able to win national office on its own, without the presence of a great national hero to win for it.

It is evident from the President's inaugural address that the work of building the peace will have the first, the foremost, the over-riding claim upon the administration throughout the coming four years.

No American President has ever delivered an inaugural message which devoted itself so fully to the nation's involvement in world affairs. It is not a little ironic that it should be a Republican President who is seeking to mobilize so much of America's resources to wage the peace. This, too, — at least in by-product — is part of Mr. Eisenhower's effort to give a new direction and a new cast to his party.

World Role Stressed

The inaugural address was devoted almost totally to describing the role which the United States must play if war is to be averted. He dealt with domestic problems in one paragraph out of 40, in a few sentences out of the whole text, not because they are unimportant but because the tasks of peace are over-riding.

"Rarely has this earth known such peril as today," the President declared, and this was the theme behind everything he had to say. He asked that in waging the peace "toil" be patiently sustained, "help" be honorably given, and "sacrifice calmly borne" and he made it clear that it was imperative that the American government and the American people "meet the price of this peace."

No Republican President, no President at any time in American history, has ever taken upon his shoulders such world leadership — a role which he must persuade the nation to support if he is to be free to do his part. The inaugural was part of that persuading process:

To maintain "needed military strength and help build the security of others."

"To help others rise from misery however far the scene of suffering may be from our shores."

To "accept our own deep involvement in the destiny of man everywhere."

Can't Live Alone

I think I am correct in saying that Mr. Eisenhower put his deepest convictions in these few sentences: "No people can live to itself alone. . . not even America's prosperity could long survive if other nations did not also prosper. No nation can longer be a fortress, lone and strong and safe. And any people, seeking such shelter for themselves, can now build only their prison."

At this opening hour of the Eisenhower second term, which holds gaping pitfalls and great opportunities, the thing which impresses me most is the extent to which United States foreign policy has moved to the opposite extreme in one generation.

Before the two World Wars the American government was doing everything it could to serve notice on the potential aggressor — the Kaiser's Germany and Hitler's Germany — that we did not want to fight, did not intend to fight, and, short of direct attack, would not fight under any conceivable circumstance. War was not deterred and we fought both times.

U. S. Will Fight

Today the American government is doing everything it can to serve notice on the potential aggressor that if there is aggression against most any nation anywhere, the United States will fight.

Embodied in this policy, which in the case of Formosa and in the projected executive-congressional resolution on the Middle East Mr. Eisenhower has carried farther forward than any of his predecessors, is the central lesson of three wars, World War I, World War II and Korea: the lesson that the greatest danger of war is the danger of miscalculation, the miscalculation that aggression can be undertaken with impunity.

The President's conviction is that to remove the danger of miscalculation is one of the best deterrents to war.

Big Teamster Union Needs an Inquiry

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — "We put the Teamsters right here so we could keep an eye on Congress," quoth roly-poly, baldheaded Dave Beck, czar of the Teamsters Union, explaining why he had located his national headquarters to that any senator looking out a rear Capitol window could not escape the glass-and-aluminum palace dedicated to the biggest union in America.

Mr. Pearson

Beck's remark was made two years ago. He would not make it today. For today Congress has reversed things and is keeping an eye on the Teamsters.

One by one a long file of Teamster chiefs sat before the Senate Investigating Committee, blithely pleaded the Fifth Amendment. With monotonous regularity they refused to answer questions.

Dave Beck didn't plead the Fifth Amendment. From his home in Seattle he pleaded sickness.

Sitting in his swank office at the foot of the Capitol a few weeks before, he could push a button and have the curtain automatically drawn over his huge glass window. Or he could push another button and diffuse the sun's rays in the window glass through which he viewed Congress.

Another button turned on his specially installed TV set.

A battery of phones was spread out on the huge, bare desk. He could bark into a box and summon union chiefs from any place in his glass palace. Upstairs was a cafeteria where Teamster chiefs could eat free. Nearby was a gold-leaf decorated projection room seating 500, where the Teamster boss could show his private movies. The leather upholstery in his building made the Union League Club look parsimonious.

"We're going to keep an eye on Congress," the Teamster boss had said. But now Congress is keeping an eye on him.

No Tears for Beck

Not many people in the labor movement feel sorry for Dave Beck or the Teamsters. Dave has thumbed his nose at too many swords too frequently with George Meany, raided too many other unions, even loaned money to firms engaged in locking out other unions.

Furthermore, there's a lot in the record of both Beck and his No. 2 Teamster boss, Jim Hoffa, that ought to be investigated for the good of union honesty.

However, let's take a look at the man who's doing the investigating — Sen. John McClellan of Arkansas.

Senator McClellan was entrusted with the probe of the gas-oil lobby after a lobbyist for Howard Keck and Superior Oil attempted to bribe Sen. Francis Case of South Dakota to the tune of $2,500.

Senator McClellan was given the investigating job after Sen. Tom Hennings of Missouri and Sen. Albert Gore of Tennessee had tried to do a forthright job but were euchred out of the committee chairmanship by Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas, bosom pal of the gas lobby. Johnson knew McClellan would be a safe investigator.

He was. At the close of his alleged investigation he blithely announced:

"We have done everything possible to secure the cooperation of the press, the public, and the executive branch of the government. The facts the committee obtained in response to these efforts were negligible."

Senator McClellan issued this statement despite the face that I personally went to his office and urged his staff to probe the $5,000 check paid by the same Howard Keck of Superior Oil to the Eisenhower Dinner Committee at the very same time the gas bill was under debate. I had a photostat of the check.

Senator Case rebuffed the $2,500 from Superior Oil. The Eisenhower Committee accepted twice that amount from the same Superior Oil. Yet Senator McClellan refused to investigate. On top of that he had the nerve to announce that the press did not cooperate.

Senator McClellan is quite right about investigating the Teamsters. But he has been woefully negligent in not fully investigating the gas lobby, the big utilities, and Vice President Nixon's friend, Murray Chotiner. McClellan's law firm in Arkansas represents both oil companies and utilities. If he doesn't want to investigate their lobbying he should step aside and let someone else conduct the hearings.

Once-in-a-Lifetime Dream Proves Real

By MARGARET LATROBE

Dreams, those confounders of our daytime selves, can be fun, frightening or occasionally commonplace in their revelations. Our own dreams never bore us, although nothing falls quite so flat as dreams repeated to someone who should be, but isn't, interested.

Mrs. Latrobe

One old gentleman I knew, father of eight dreaming children, had never dreamt in his life. He thought the kids were simple-minded. Each morning at breakfast they delighted in making him listen to their ever-wilder dreams, and he told them plainly what he thought of this nonsense.

It was, said he, a weakness they could get over if they just set their minds to it. "Don't dream!" he shouted. But instead of eight little heads falling off to blank slumber, Father's admonitions seemed to make them worse. Each morning there was a race for the table and a spirited recital of the night's dreams, with their Father growing more outraged and confused by tales of a never-never land he himself could never enter.

He was convinced that his brood invented large sections of their stories. At least, he hoped so. Lively imaginations were preferable to soft-headedness. Their disability, these dreams, still plagued him as the years went by.

Early in October of 1929, Father was late for breakfast — an incident none of them could remember having happened before. Taking his place a few minutes later, he seemed preoccupied.

"I dreamt a strange thing last night," he said, without preliminary. "People were jumping around, yelling, waving their arms — even jumping out of windows. Seemed like the market had gone to pieces. Today I'm selling the rest of the hogs!"

When the family had digested that statement, oatmeal still untouched, their Father continued: ". . . and what's more, I'm selling every stock I have, maybe even the farm.!" The boys tried to reason with him, explaining that you weren't supposed to pay any attention to dreams. The old boy would have none of it or them.

He did keep the farm, but sold everything else. And when the crash came a few days later, it was the children's turn to worry. That once-in-a-lifetime dream, while a lucky one, seemed just a little too close for comfort.

'Speaking of Beauty'
"Grey Hair And Self Analysis"
James V. Bonafed

GREY HAIR . . . did you dread its coming? Do you feel "ancient" now that it's here? Don't . . . some of America's most beautiful women have grey hair. They're young women, too—in years, outlook, and personality!

* *

FIRST step for the lady with greying hair is searching self-analysis. (I've said it before! Take a big mirror to the window. Really look at yourself!

* *

IF grey hair created "drabness" in your looks, now's the time to try a new make-up! Look at your skin carefully. The pigment is changing color —that's part of the grey-hair process. Maybe the make-up base you now use is too dark or too "yellow" for your new skin tone. Try a slightly rosy base . . . in a lighter shade than you now use. Try a "bluer" lipstick.

* *

NO, grey hair shouldn't be drab hair! If yours is still in the transition-stage, let us rinse your hair with our own special kind of silver magic. For "salt and pepper" heads we have new grey rinses that give the lovely glow of pewter . . . making an exotic jewel of your coiffure!

* *

DO YOU have lighter grey or white hair that "yellows"? We'll rinse soft lights into it, completely concealing the yellow tinge. No blue tones, no old-fashioned lavender! We use new rinses carefully formulated by beauty scientists just for grey hair. Just as silver-polish glamorizes your sterling, these rinses give new life and beauty to your grey hair.

* *

Jane Beazaell was accepted as a new member.

Plans were made to begin work on the Mother's Day craft program as soon as possible.

The girls concluded with the singing of Taps. Mrs. William [illegible] leader, was in charge and Mrs. Mary Delia, committee mother assisted.

The Junior American Legion Auxiliary will meet this evening at 6:30 in the Legion Home with Mrs. Dorothy Cefala in charge with Mrs. Ann Lucas assisting.

Methodist Society Meets At Church Here Thursday

The Women's Society of Christian Service of the First Methodist Church met in the church social rooms on Thursday evening with the president, Mrs. Earl Cramer, in charge. She opened the session with a prayer poem.

Mrs. Paul Davison was the devotional and lesson leader and her theme was "Islands in My Community". The purpose of the lesson was to stimulate a greater awareness of the importance on "Oneness" in a community and to create an understanding of the different kinds of isolation of groups and individuals and to take interest in planning some constructive action to eliminate "islands" in rural areas, towns or cities.

Assisting Mrs. Davison with the lesson were Mrs. Albert Pocky, Mrs. Edward Morgan, Mrs. Marie Bowell, Frances Lowman and Mrs. William Dierwrith.

Gladys Adele Dobson accompanied for the singing of hymns.

Mrs. Joseph Lupori continued the study on "Women of the Bible" and her topic was "Rebecca", wife of Isaac and mother of Esau and Jacob. Mrs. Lupori is superintendent of the Sunday School.

In the business session following the lesson, Mrs. William Birwirth, Mrs. William Schatz, Mrs. John O. Martin were appointed a committee to puchase new communion linens for the church.

Donations were given to the March of Dimes and the New Methodist College in Alaska. Youth Work Secretary Carol Davenport was authorized to purchase needed materials for her work.

The women were invited to take part in a study class, which the Wesleyan Service Guild will have during Lent and the subject will be "Paul's Letters". Miss Davenport, Guild president, announced that Mrs. Florence Ames will be the teacher and the exact time will be announced later.

The World Day of Prayer will be March 7 and the program theme will be "Who Shall Separate Us". It was written by Mrs. Serena Vassady, formerly of Hungary and comes from her experience behind the iron curtain.

Mrs. Virginia Ferguson, spiritual life secretary, explained that the picture of the worship center overshadowed by the small church was one of Belle Vernon's Main street taken in 1916 and she then gave a short meditation on the use of prayer to help erase some of the "Islands in the Community".

A social hour followed and luncheon was served by the hostesses, Mrs. Kenneth Beazell, Mrs. Albert Pocky, Mrs. Edward Morgan, Mrs. Marie Bowell and Mrs. Charles Rothrock.

Big Gate at Charleroi-Monessen Game

That overflow crowd at the Charleroi-Monessen basketball game last Tuesday enriched the Greyhound athletic treasury by more than $1500. The gate sale, alone, amounted to $1276.50. A pro-rated share of the season ticket sale is still to be added . . . Incidentally 3,444 fans paid their way into the game. Counting squads and complimentaries, there must have been close to 3600 persons in the gym . . . Speaking of basketball receipts, Charleroi earned close to $700 for its appearance in the Johnstown Basketball Tournament over the holidays. As yet, Monessen High officials have received no word of their share from the Ford City show.

Francis (Corky) Glamp, 24-year-old shortstop from Latrobe, has been assigned to Columbus by the Pittsburgh Pirates. The former all-around Wildcat athlete hit .308 in 43 games at Waco last season before a torn knee ligament sidelined him . . . Another Pirate prospect, catcher Harding Peterson, has been added to the Hollywood roster. Peterson, who looked so good in 1955, sat out all of last season to permit a broken arm time to mend . . . Har-Brack High has a basketball center named Bob Slobodnik, who stands a mere 6-8½. According to critics, he's a pretty good shot, too.

McKeesport Regulars Have Easy Time

McKeesport High coach Neenie Campbell played his regulars only 12 minutes in the easy 68-27 win over Glassport the other night. The victory was the 14th in a row for the Tigers this season . . . In 21 years, the Pittsburgh Dapper Dans have turned over a whopping total of $300,000 to charity. The money was raised through sports promotions. The Fayette County Coaches Association has voted to admit Bellmar as a member . . . By the way, the Fayette group will stage its annual basketball tournament from Feb. 25 to March 5 at a site still to be selected. This year's tourney will be open only to undergraduates.

Jack Wiley, Pitt line coach, has been added to the speaking program of the Bellmar All-Sports banquet at Twin Coaches on February 13. Heading the talkers will be St. Vincent's Al DeLuca . . . No less than 28 colleges have already submitted bids for the football services of Dick Hoak, Jeannette High's fine quarterback . . . Worrell, Pottios on Radio Program

Red Worrell, of Centerville, and Myron Pottios, of Charleroi, will be guests on Frank Buscanics sports program over WESA tomorrow morning at 11:05. The two schoolboy footballers will receive certificates for their selection to the 1956 Wigwam Wisemen team. Also on hand will be their respective coaches, Pete Daley of Centerville, and James (Rab) Currie of Charleroi . . . Steve Pastor, McKeesport High basketballer, made 13 straight fouls in a recent game . . . Dave Ricketts, of Duquesne University, is on a 24-straight foul streak. He'll try to extend that string tomorrow when the Dukes invade Buffalo for a big game with highly-regarded St. Bonaventure.

Today's Sports Parade —

Snead Still Has Hopes Of Winning Open Title

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK (UP) — Slammin' Sammy Snead shrugged off the U.S. Open "jinx" today and, while picking Ben Hogan as the man to beat, insisted that he still could win it when the nation's best golfers go to the tee at Toledo's Inverness course in June.

The Open for two decades has been Sam's golfing cross. Four times he finished second and in 1939 he kicked it away with his infamous last hole eight when a par would have taken the title.

"But I'm still not too old to win it," the 44-year-old Snead insisted. "And this time I know the course real well and I figure to be in better shape than I have in 10 years."

In recent years Sam always has come up to the Open with some sort of an ache or a pain. There were those who figured it was an alibi suggested by a mental conviction that he never could win the Open because of his long - time jinx.

Putting To Tell Tale

"Most people sort of over-play that kind of talk," argued Sam. "Personally, I don't think there's anything to it and, if I'm putting well, I can win it. If I'm putting well, I will win it."

That's an about-face for Snead in the confidence department, because he actually has come up to the Open almost annually with obviously quivering nerves. The intervening weeks may do something to shake his current aplomb yet there is small question but what The Slammer has the ability.

"I'm going to be ready this time," he explains. "Now, if I needed the money, there are a lot of tournaments I'd rather win, say, like the $50,000 world at Tam O'Shanter. But the Open is the only one I've missed and I'm going to give it a real shot."

So, building up to the Open, Snead disclosed that he would play in the Masters, the Greensboro Open, the Greenbrier Invitation, the Palm Beach Round Robin and then the Open.

"I'm going to take a month, not do any teaching, and really practice," he said. "You know, they all say old Sam will never win the Open but one of these days I'm gonna sneak in there when nobody thinks I have a chance any more."

Sam Likes Course

Sam's hopes are buoyed by the fact that in the past he has had such tremendous success at Inverness. It was there that he dominated the Inverness Four - Ball, winning it five times with threee different partners.

"I'm convinced," said Sam, in an abrupt about-face from his thinking in previous years, "that the Open is no different than any other tournament. You're playing the same guys, with just a few exceptions, that you do in most other tournaments and I've won my share of those."

But Hogan, who again will be seeking a record fifth win in the Open to break his four-time deadlock with Bobby Jones and ancient Willie Anderson, is acknowledged by Snead as the man to beat.

"Ben's a pretty determined fellow," Sam explained. "You know, when he wants something, he works harder than almost anybody I know. Well, he wants the fifth and he'll take a lot of stopping."

Sam thinks he's the man who can do it. And, if he's really convinced inside, he just might, too.

Crocker Picked In Golf Tourney

LAKE WORTH, Fla. (UP)—Fay Crocker, a "hot weather" golfer from below the equator, was the favorite today as a star-studded field teed off in the $5,000 Lake Worth Women's Open Golf Tournament.

The senorita from Montevideo, Uruguay, produced a women's record 67 in the final round of the Tampa Open last Sunday after the weather warmed up and showed she still is in form Thursday with a two-under-par 68 practice round over the Lake Worth Golf Club course.

Betsy Rawls of Spartanburg, S.C., who plays well despite weather conditions, beat Miss Crocker for top money at Tampa by one stroke and hopes to do it again. Californian Mickey Wright, winner of the Sea Island, Ga., tourney also is a threat in the field of 24 pros.

Charleroi Jrs. Nip Monessen, 30 to 28

Good foul shooting led visiting Charleroi Junior High to a 30-28 basketball win over the Monessen Juniors at the MHS gym last night.

The thrill-packed Section 2 game wasn't decided until the closing moments.

With 2:50 to play, Monessen's Frank Ryan tied the score with a field goal at 27-27. Tony Romasco hit on a foul seconds later to put the Monessen boys in front after they had trailed by as much as 26-18.

However the visitors came right back, with two successful fouls by Pete Goimarac and another by Gary Hogan to pull the game out.

Good Foul Shooting

As a matter of fact, it was foul shooting that kept the Charleroians in contention all the way. They made 16 of 23 free throw attempts and converted on their first seven in the final period.

In contrast, Monessen hit on 12 of 22 free throws.

Jim Lewitsky paced Monessen with 10 points. Romasco chipped in with six.

For Charleroi, Billy Johnson, Hogan and Goimarac each had eight markers.

The game was close all the way, with never more than a few points separating the two teams. In the final period, Monessen lost both Bill Batiste and Ryan on fouls and that hurt a little in the close hassle.

1-4 Record

By losing, the Junior Hounds slipped deeper into the Section 2 standings with a 1-4 record. Charleroi now owns a 3-2 league slate.

Lineups follow:

Battered Dukes Set for Bonnies

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Duquesne University officials said today sophomore guard Bernie Matthews probably would start against St. Bonaventure Saturday night despite a deep cut over the right eye suffered in practice.

Eight stitches were required to close the wound at Mercy Hospital Thursday.

Another visitor at the hospital was forward Jack Sauer, who has been taking daily treatments for a severe charleyhorse. He is a doubtful starter against the Brown Indians at Buffalo, N.Y.

George Henry, who had been hobbled most of the season with an ankle injury, will take over Sauer's assignment if he is unable to play.

Duquesne will be seeking its 10th victory against four losses. St. Bonaventure is 9-2.

Patterson Named Fighter of Year

NEW YORK (UP) — Heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson established a precedent when he was honored as "Fighter of the Year" Thursday night at the annual dinner of the New York Boxing Writers Assn.

Only three years ago, the Brooklyn youth was named "Rookie of the Year" by the same group. It marked the first time in the history of the association that a fighter won both awards.

Patterson also received Ring Magazine's jewel-studded belt during the dinner.

Carroll Plays Host Today to Rostraver Jrs.

Undefeated Carroll Twp. faces one of its toughest tests in Section 3 Junior WPIAL basketball play today when Rostraver pays a visit.

The Carroll boys — paced by the fabulous Johnson twins — have handled four section foes so far this season. The Rostraver record shows three wins in four starts.

However some observers feel that the Little Leps — who aren't really that little — will eventually wind up on top of the standings.

Rostraver's only loss was at Vernon, a team the Carroll boys barely beat at home.

In other Section 3 tussles today, Vernon will play host to Fallowfield while Perryopolis will go to Marion.

Two games are slated in Section 2.

Undefeated Donora will play host to winless Washington while California will go to Monongahela.

Skaters Duel for Scoring Lead

By UNITED PRESS

An interesting scoring duel between Gordie Howe and Jean Beliveau added spice today to that perennial Montreal - Detroit battle for first place in the National Hockey League.

Howe picked up two goals and two assists Thursday night in leading the Red Wings to a 6-2 victory over the Chicago Black Hawks at Detroit.

The Wings' victory enabled them to tie idle Montreal for the league lead, while Howe deadlocked Beliveau, the Canadiens' star center, for first place in the individual scoring race with 58 points each.

The New York Rangers play the Bruins at Boston Saturday afternoon in a nationally - televised game. Chicago is at Montreal and Detroit at Toronto in Saturday night contests.

'Little Guy' Is Big Point-Maker

NEW YORK (UP) — Florindo (Porky) Vieira, Quinnipac (Conn.) College's five-foot, six-inch star, made the big news in small college basketball today by moving into third place in individual scoring with 100 points in his team's last two games and a 31.4-point average for eight games.

Vieira advanced from 14th to third after scoring 100 points in two games.

Ken Hammond of West Virginia Tech remained in first place although his average slipped from 35.0 to 33.6. Joe Miller of Alderson-Broaddus, another West Virginia school, moved from third to second with a 32.8-point average in NCAA statistics which included Jan. 19 games.

Riley Eliminated In Golf Tourney

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (UP)—Maureen Riley of New Castle, Pa., fought hard all the way but was eliminated Thursday in the Doherty Women's Amateur Golf Tournament.

Pennsylvania's two other representatives, Nancy Brayman of Pittsburgh and Virginia Ott of Williamsport, also were eliminated.

Medalist Dot Kirby of Atlanta was extended to 20 holes to beat Miss Riley, 1-up. After halving seven straight holes, Miss Riley tied the match on the 17th. They matched pars and then birdies on 18 and 19.

On the 20th Miss Riley hooked her drive into the rough and tried to gamble her way out. But her ball twice hit trees and she wound up with a double-bogey six. Miss Kirby played her shots carefully down the middle for a winning five.

Miss Brayman was eliminated by Betty Kerby of Akron, Ohio, 5 and 4, and Miss Ott lost to Mary Ann Reynolds of Albany, Ga., 5 and 3.

The use of the pillory was abolished in Massachusetts in 1839.

Hounds Hope to Start New Win Mark in Sec. 5

Monessen High's rebounding basketballers will invade Monongahela tonight in an effort to start another Section 5 win streak.

The Greyhounds, who lost their first section assignment in three and a half years to Charleroi on Tuesday, are favored to get back into the winning groove in a hurry.

Coach Frank Janosik's speedsters are solid favorites against the Cats. Anything but a Monessen decision will be regarded as a startling upset.

Even Janosik agreed that his students should come out on top tonight. However he cautioned that much depends on their "mental attitude" following the loss to Charleroi which concluded a 38-game victory streak.

On paper, at least, Monongahela doesn't look nearly strong enough to upset the Hounds even on a hot night. The Cats haven't won a section game and their overall season record is a poor two wins, ten loses.

Still a case can be made for Coach Al Cree's improving dribbiers. To begin with a series of injuries slowed the Monongahelans for a good part of the season. Now the entire cast appears in top condition.

Misleading Record

Moreover Monongahela's 0 - 5 league record is misleading. The Cats lost three of those games in the final moment of play. With a little luck, their record might just as easily have been 3-2.

It's true that the Monongahelans have been awfully bad at times this season. They lost, 91-25, to Uniontown and 78-43, to Greensburg in ridiculous games.

But the Cats have looked good occasionally too. They barely lost by a point to Donora and they pelted a respected Clairton team in one of their two wins.

Like Monessen, the Cats have no real height. They, too, rely on speed rather than altitude.

Starting Cast

The starting cast includes Milt Diaz, 6-0; Frank Columbus, 6-0; Dee Galiffa, 6-0; Ed Kikla, 5-11; and Rich Sacane, 5-11. Galiffa, Kikla and Sacane are seniors while Diaz is a junior and Columbus a sophomore.

The sixth man is junior Ron Saunders, 5-11; the only big boy on the roster is senior Joe Hughes, 6-2.

Galiffa and Kikla have proved the only dangerous Monongahela scores so far this season. If Monessen can bottle up those two, the Wildcat offensive will be pretty much stifled, the critics feel.

Significantly, Monongahela gave Charleroi a real scrap for three periods earlier in the season before eventually losing, 69-50. Another performance like that could make a serious threat out of the Cats this evening.

Monessen, now owning a 4-1 league record, will open with its usual lineup: Frank Crisi, 6-0; Dick DiBiaso, 6-1; Carl Crawley, 6-0; Maurice Mathieu, 5-9; and John Bogovich, 5-10.

Behind them will be Joe Kurey, 6-0; and Dan Barton, 5-10.

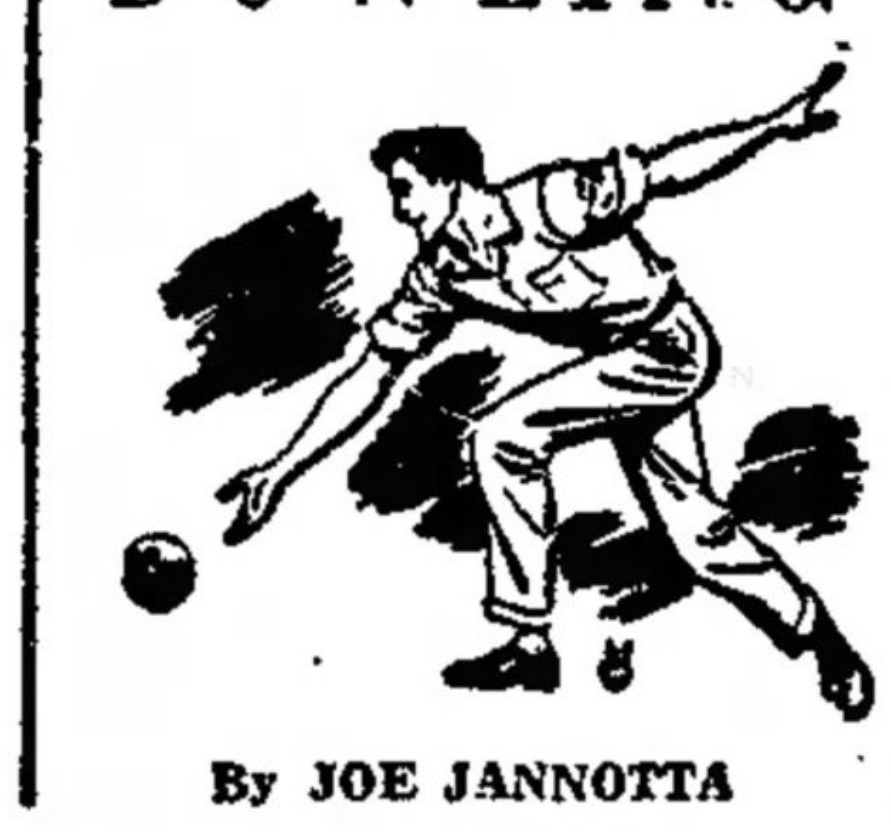
BOWLING



By JOE JANNOTTA

This week we have been going over 12 rules of bowling courtesy, which will make the sport more pleasant for all of us.

Today, let's consider the final four.

1. Splits, misses and taps are just as much a part of the games as strikes and spares. Don't blame the equipment. Rather determine your fault and correct it.

2. Do not throw a spare away because you think you were entitled to a strike.

Get Every Pin

3. If you have a split, get every possible pin with your second ball. It picks up the pins that win games It also provides you with an opportunity to improve your accuracy through practice. Many a game has been lost by one pin which could easily have been made if a temper had been controlled.

4. Use good sportsmanship at all times; give credit where it is due. Remember it is easy to be a good winner, but it takes nerve to be a good loser.

To best enjoy the sport of bowling, it's necessary first to be a sport yourself.

Rostraver At Derry Tonight

Pace-Setting Leps Face Tough Test In Section 10 Play

Rostraver High's fast-moving basketballers may be at the top of the Section 10 standings, but they'll be definite underdogs just the same tonight when they appear at third place Derry Twp.

Coach George Everett's Rostraver boys will take a 4-1 league record into the game. On the other hand, Derry will sport a 3-2 chart.

However the critics are picking Derry as the team to eventually win the race. And they have the evidence to back that position, too.

Both Derry losses this season were by one-point margins away from home. The Derry dribblers bowed 53-52 at Hurst and 67-66 at Scottdale.

Romp at Home

On their home floor, though, it's been a different story. The Derry lads walloped Ligonier, 87-52, and Dunbar, 83-62. They also own a very impressive 79-56 win at Ramsay.

Rostraver's only loss this season was at Hurst by four points.

Should the Leps surprise Derry tonight, they will be in a solid spot to challenge for their first Section 10 title.

Other league games tonight will send Ramsay to Dunbar and Ligonier to Hurst. Ramsay and Hurst are slight favorites in those matches.

A big exhibition tussle tonight will pair the speedy Scottdale Scotties against improving Bellmar at the Hurricane gym.

Three games are on tap in Section 5.

Undefeated Charleroi will play host to Donora. The Cougars are heavily favored to win that game without working up a sweat.

Other Tussles

Other tussles will send Monessen to Monongahela and California to Brownsville.

The Section 17 front will be busy, too. Pace-setting Perryopolis is favored to win number five in a row at the expense of visiting East Huntingdon.

Two challenging teams, West Newton and Irwin. will snipe at each other on the Black Knights floor. Both teams have 3-1 league charts.

Here's the way the Daily Independent sports department picks tonight's games:

Mantle, Larsen Looking More Like Holdouts

By UNITED PRESS

A vision of Mickey Mantle playing golf all spring instead of tuning up his home run bat haunted the New York Yankees today along with that picture of Don Larsen tending bar instead of pitching.

"I may be around this vicinity playing golf all spring," said Mantle with a grin when he stopped at Tulsa, Okla., Thursday.

This latest word from the Yankees' holdout-in-chief comes right on the heels of Larsen's crack in San Diego. Calif., that he "may end up tending bar" if the Yankees don't meet his request for a $27,500 salary. Neither is expected to give Yankee General Manager George Weiss anything to laugh about.

Mantle, who is asking for $65,000 to more than double his 1955 salary, is due for another visit to New York next week for a banquet, and he and Weiss are expected to get together than to discuss golf. springtime in Oklahoma and $65.000.

Minor Action

While Mantle and Larsen needled Weiss from long distance, there was minor action in the contract signing market Thursday.

The Pittsburgh Pirates boosted their total under contract to 25 with signed pacts from catchers Danny Kravitz, who is now leading the Dominican Winter League in home runs. and Dick Rand. who hit .278 for Rochester and was acquired from St. Louis in a winter deal. The Pirates said the team will open spring training at Fort Myers, Fla., Feb. 28. with 56 players in uniform.

The Chicago Cubs gained their 17th and 18th signers in outfielders Walt Moryn. a .285 hitter with 23 homers, and Jim King, a .249 batsman.

Ancient Maxim Meets Machen In Bout Tonight

MIAMI BEACH (UP) — Joey Maxim, 34 years old but "still strong as a bull," pits his age and 16 years of experience against Eddie Machen, one of the division's top-ranked young lions, in a 10-round television bout at the Miami Beach Auditorium tonight.

Machen, 24, from Redding. Calif. was a heavy favorite (4-1 or better) because of his strong punching arm which has netted him 14 knockouts in his 19 fights. He is undefeated in his pro career, which began in 1955 and is ranked third among the heavyweights.

But Maxim, former light-heavyweight champion, figures the 110 fights he has put under his belt since 1941 will make the difference against the California youngster. Maxim, from Cleveland, has 82 wins, but only 21 KO's.

"Sure, Machen's young, but so was Floyd Patterson when Joey beat him," said Joey's manager, Jack (Doc) Kearns.

Maxim defeated Patterson, who recently won the heavyweight crown, in June of 1954, on a disputed decision.

St. Louis Pays Tribute To 'Son' Stan Musial

ST. LOUIS (UP) — Stan Musial, already established as one of the great ones of baseball, was still aglow today after heartwarming tribute from the folks of his adopted home town.

At a $25-a-plate testimonial dinner Thursday night, he was given the humanitarian award of the St. Louis Advisory Board of the American Medical Center.

Business and civic leaders, city officials and just plain fans joined the baseball people in the crowd of 700 which jammed the dining room of a midtown hotel.

(Representing Monessen at the banquet were Dr. Michael Duda and his family. It was Dr. Duda, who as a baseball coach at Donora High, first started Musial in his diamond career. Stan has always credited Dr. Duda with much of his early athletic training. The Dudas attended the banquet at Musial's personal invitation.)

Warren C. Giles, president of the National League, let out all the stops in describing the 36-year-old six-time winner of the circuit's batting crown.

"Because of his great contribution, plus his record and personality," Giles said, "he could be chronicled as the greatest player of all time."

Will Retire Uniform

The highlight of the affair, which raised some $15,000 for the center's hospital at Denver, came when John L. Wilson, vice-president of the St. Louis Cardinals, announced on behalf of owner Gussie Busch that Stan's uniform number, six, would be retired when he decided to hang up his glove.

"His last uniform will be sent to the Hall of Fame at Cooperstown as a symbol and a reminder of the great record by this great baseball player and gentleman," Wilson said.

Musial made it clear, however, that he was not thinking of retirement now.

"This is not my farewell party," he said. "I'm going to play a few more years."

Five of the six managers under whom Musial played were present. Only Billy Southworth was unable to join the group which included Fred Hutchinson, Harry Walker, Marty Marion, Eddie Dyer and Eddie Stanky.

Garagiola TM

Joe Garagiola, toastmaster and former teammate of Stan, sympathized with Frank Lane, the Cards' general manager, who has yet to sign Musial for 1957.

"This is the worst timing in history," he said.

Lane, a later speaker, played along.

"I'm willing to pay for his autograph," he said, describing Musial as a .300 hitter on the field and a 1.000 hitter off it."

Other speakers followed with praise for Musial.

All in all, one of the guests came up with the best summary.

"This," he said, "is nothing but a Musial admiration society."

Iowa State Upset By Missouri, 69-66

By UNITED PRESS

Iowa State, the team that upset Kansas, gagged today on a dose of its own medicine.

Just when the Cyclones had chance to tie Kansas for the Big Seven lead, they themselves were upset, 69-66, in overtime Thursday night on their home court by Missouri in a battle that featured a post-game demonstration by Cyclone fans.

So instead of being knotted with Kansas (3-1) at the top of the ladder, Iowa State is down in a tie for third place at 2-2 and is left to worry about how the loss will affect the No. 4 national ranking it achieved by the Kansas upset of a week ago.

Almost Save Game

Gary Thompson, the five-foot eight-inch whiz who sparked Iowa State's big win last week, almost saved its bacon Thursday night when his hook shot produced a 61-61 tie at the end of regulation time. Then Don Medsker, whose last-second basket beat Kansas, opened the extra session with a free throw for a 62-61 lead. But last week's heroes were left in the lurch as Bill Ross' basket put Missouri into a lead it never gave up.

At the final gun, Iowa State fans surged onto the floor and surrounded the two referees in protest at a decision in the final minute of regulation play. Police escorted the officials from the floor and out of the building.

Sweet Triumph

It was a sweet triumph for Missouri, anxious to prove that it's 77-59 rout of Iowa State earlier this season in Missouri was no "fluke."

Another upset was scored last night by Wichita, 52-48, over Oklahoma A&M, the nation's 18th-ranked team, on the Aggies' home court.

In other leading games Thursday: Marquette rebounded from two straight losses to beat North Dakota, 72-57; Miami (Fla.) outgunned Kentucky Wesleyan, 100-95 and Toledo downed Delaware, 91-70.

Aim at Records Tonight in Meet At Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA (UP)— A four-minute miler, five 15-foot pole vaulters, and five gold medal winners from the Melbourne Olympics shoot for the records tonight at the Philadelphia Inquirer's 13th annual indoor track meet at Convention Hall.

Laszlo Tabori, the Hungarian refugee clocked at 3:59 outdoors in London two years ago, makes his indoor debut at that distance with his top opponent Bobby Seaman of UCLA, an American hope to crack the four minute barrier.

Olympic gold medalists entered include Charlie Jenkins of Villanova, the 400 meters champion; Tom Courtney, now in military service, the 800 winner; Rev. Bob Richards, pole vault champion; Lee Calhoun, hurdles champion; and Milt Campbell, in naval service, winner of the decathlon title.

Courtney's appearance revives the red-hot competition between him and Arnie Sowell, the Pitt speedster who is defending champion in the 1,000 yards. Courtney beat Sowell in the 800 meters at Melbourne, but the Pitt entry turned back the former flyer at Boston in the 1,000 last week.

Sprinters Dave Sime, Ira Murchison and Willie Williams promise a hairline finish in the dash, and Jenkins defends against Josh Culbreath and the perennial Reggie Pearman.

Geneva's Blair Eyes New Mark

BEAVER FALLS, Pa. (UP)— Geneva College's high scoring Billy Blair has another chance to set a school basketball scoring record Saturday night when the Covies meet Youngstown University at home.

Blair, who has averaged about 25 points per game, needs 18 to break the college career scoring record of 1,727 set by Stan Yukica last season.

Blair fell below his average Thursday night when the Covies routed Lawrence Tech of Detroit, 84-45, for their ninth victory in 12 starts. He scored 15 points, high for the game.

Case Tagged For Speeding

TRENTON, N. J. (UP)—George Case, former major league speed king, was tagged with three speeding violations Thursday by state Motor Vehicle Director Frederick J. Gassert Jr., who revoked Case's driver's license. The ex-Washington Senators outfielder is head baseball coach at Rutgers University.

Life Rafts Spotted Near Plane Collision

HAVANA (UP)—Two B47 Stratojet bombers collided in flight over the Caribbean Sea south of Cuba Thursday night and the Air Force reported today that two life rafts, one carrying three persons, had been spotted.

Rescue planes of the Air Force and Coast Guard moved into the area of the crash early today to begin the search for any survivors of the crash, in which six men were missing.

Maj. R. W. Bryant, public information officer at the Homestead, Fla., Air Force Base, said he received a "flash report" from the Coast Guard that the rafts had been seen.

He said it had not been immediately determined if there were any persons on the second life raft sighted.

He said the three men on the first raft were presumed to be survivors.

"They are now in the process of being picked up," Bryant said.

A B47 costs about $1.9 million.

Col. Leonard Dysinger, chief of the U.S. Air Force mission to Cuba, said few details of the accident were known other than the planes collided shortly after dark during tactical exercises.

The big six-engine planes, operating from Homestead Air Force Base south of Miami, were believed to have crashed off Cuba's Isle of Pines about 150 miles south of Key West, Fla.

Sister planes of the downed craft reported upon their return to Homestead that they saw a "huge bolt of fire" and then saw flames shoot out in "many directions" toward the sea.

One of the first rescue planes on the scene radioed that "fires are spread over a wide area" and said there were signs of "something" [illegible] south of the Isle of Pines.

Dense fog in the crash area [illegible] rescue aircraft rushed from Cuba, Miami and St. Petersburg, Fla.

It was the second major air accident within a week involving planes based at Homestead. Four men were killed on a training flight last week when a B47 caught fire and attempted to land at the air base.

The Air Force in Miami listed the following men as missing:

Maj. James McGee McFarland Sr., 37, husband of Elaine Johnson McFarland, Naranja, Fla., two children; son of John McGee McFarland, Watsontown, Pa.

Maj. William Earl Norris, 41, husband of Marjorie Frances Norris, Homestead, Fla., three children; son of Earl M. Norris, Lansing, Mich.

Maj. Winfred E. Lynn, 33, husband of Lillian Louise Lynn, Homestead, Fla., two children; son of Mr. and Mrs. John Elmer Lynn, Paducah, Ky.

Capt. James H. Parker, 35, husband of Betty Lou Parker, South Miami, Fla.; son of Mrs. Etta Effie Parker, Rock Hill, S.C.

1st Lt. James Edward Rose Jr., 28, husband of Norma Jeanne Rose, Homestead, Fla., two children; son of Mr. and Mrs. James Edward Rose, Dallas, Tex.

1st Lt. Earl S. Chrisawn Jr., 26, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl S. Chrisawn, Sumter, S. C.

To Build Nursery From Used Bottles

VALENCIA, Spain (UP)— A Catholic priest with a flair for the unusual was on his way today toward building a nursery for slum children with the proceeds of a used bottle business.

Father Joaquin Sancho had about 20,000 empty bottles toward the 100,000 he figures he needs to finance a building for 80 children under six years of age. Selling the empties at five cents each, the priest would realize $5,000 to get the project going.

G. Mason Owlett, Top GOP Power in State, Dies in Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA (UP) —G. Mason Owlett, 64, long-time power in Republican circles and president of the Pennsylvania Manufacturers Association, died in University of Pennsylvania Hospital Thursday night.

Owlett, first Pennsylvanian to be elected to five successive terms as a member of the National GOP Committee, succumbed to pulmonary embolism while his wife and son were at his bedside.

A native of Wellsboro, Owlett was stricken in New York Jan. 12 and entered the hospital here the next day. His ailment was described as "circulatory in nature" and was not considered serious, but a spokesman said he did not respond to treatment as well as expected.

Owlett was forced to the political sidelines last May because of a heart ailment, and he bowed out in favor of Jay Cooke. He suffered an attack after he returned from a South American cruise and spent two months in the hospital as a result. He later convalesced at his summer home at Twin Pine Lodge at Wellsboro, returning to his desk at his PMA headquarters here one day a week.

Owlett, who was graduated from Princeton University in 1914, studied law at the University of Pennsylvania and was admitted to the bar in 1918.

He was elected state senator in 1932 and served until 1940, when he resigned. He was Reublican floor leader in Harrisburg in 1936, the year he was first named GOP National Committeeman. He was named general counsel and executive vice president of the PMA in 1940 and was elected president of the organization in 1943.

His business affiliations included vice-president of the Putnam Oil Co., Covington, Pa.; Vice-president of the Tioga County Savings and Trust Co., Wellsboro; Secretary-treasurer of the Highland Milk Condensing Co. Elkland, Pa.; Director of the Merchants Ltd., New York; Secretary-director of the White Water River Lumber Co., Asheville, N.C., and director of the Wellsboro Eelectric Co. and the Hubbel Realty Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

Beside his widow, the former Sue Elizabeth Berkey, of Somerset, Pa., and son, Edward, Owlett is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Thomas Wilcox, also of Wellsboro.

The funeral will be held Sunday at the First Presbyterian Church in Wellsboro. The family requested that in lieu of flowers, contribution be sent to the Soldiers and Sailors Memorial Hospital in Wellsboro of which Owlett was a founder and director. Burial will be in Wellsboro.

Hits Allegheny County Because Of High Taxes

BRADDOCK, Pa. (UP) — The head of the Pennsylvania Chamber of Commerce believes the possibility of attracting new manufacturing industry to Allegheny County is "hopeless" because of high taxes.

W. F. Rockwell Jr. told a Braddock Community Board of Trade dinner Thursday night the county is "at the top of the list" for high industrial taxes in the state.

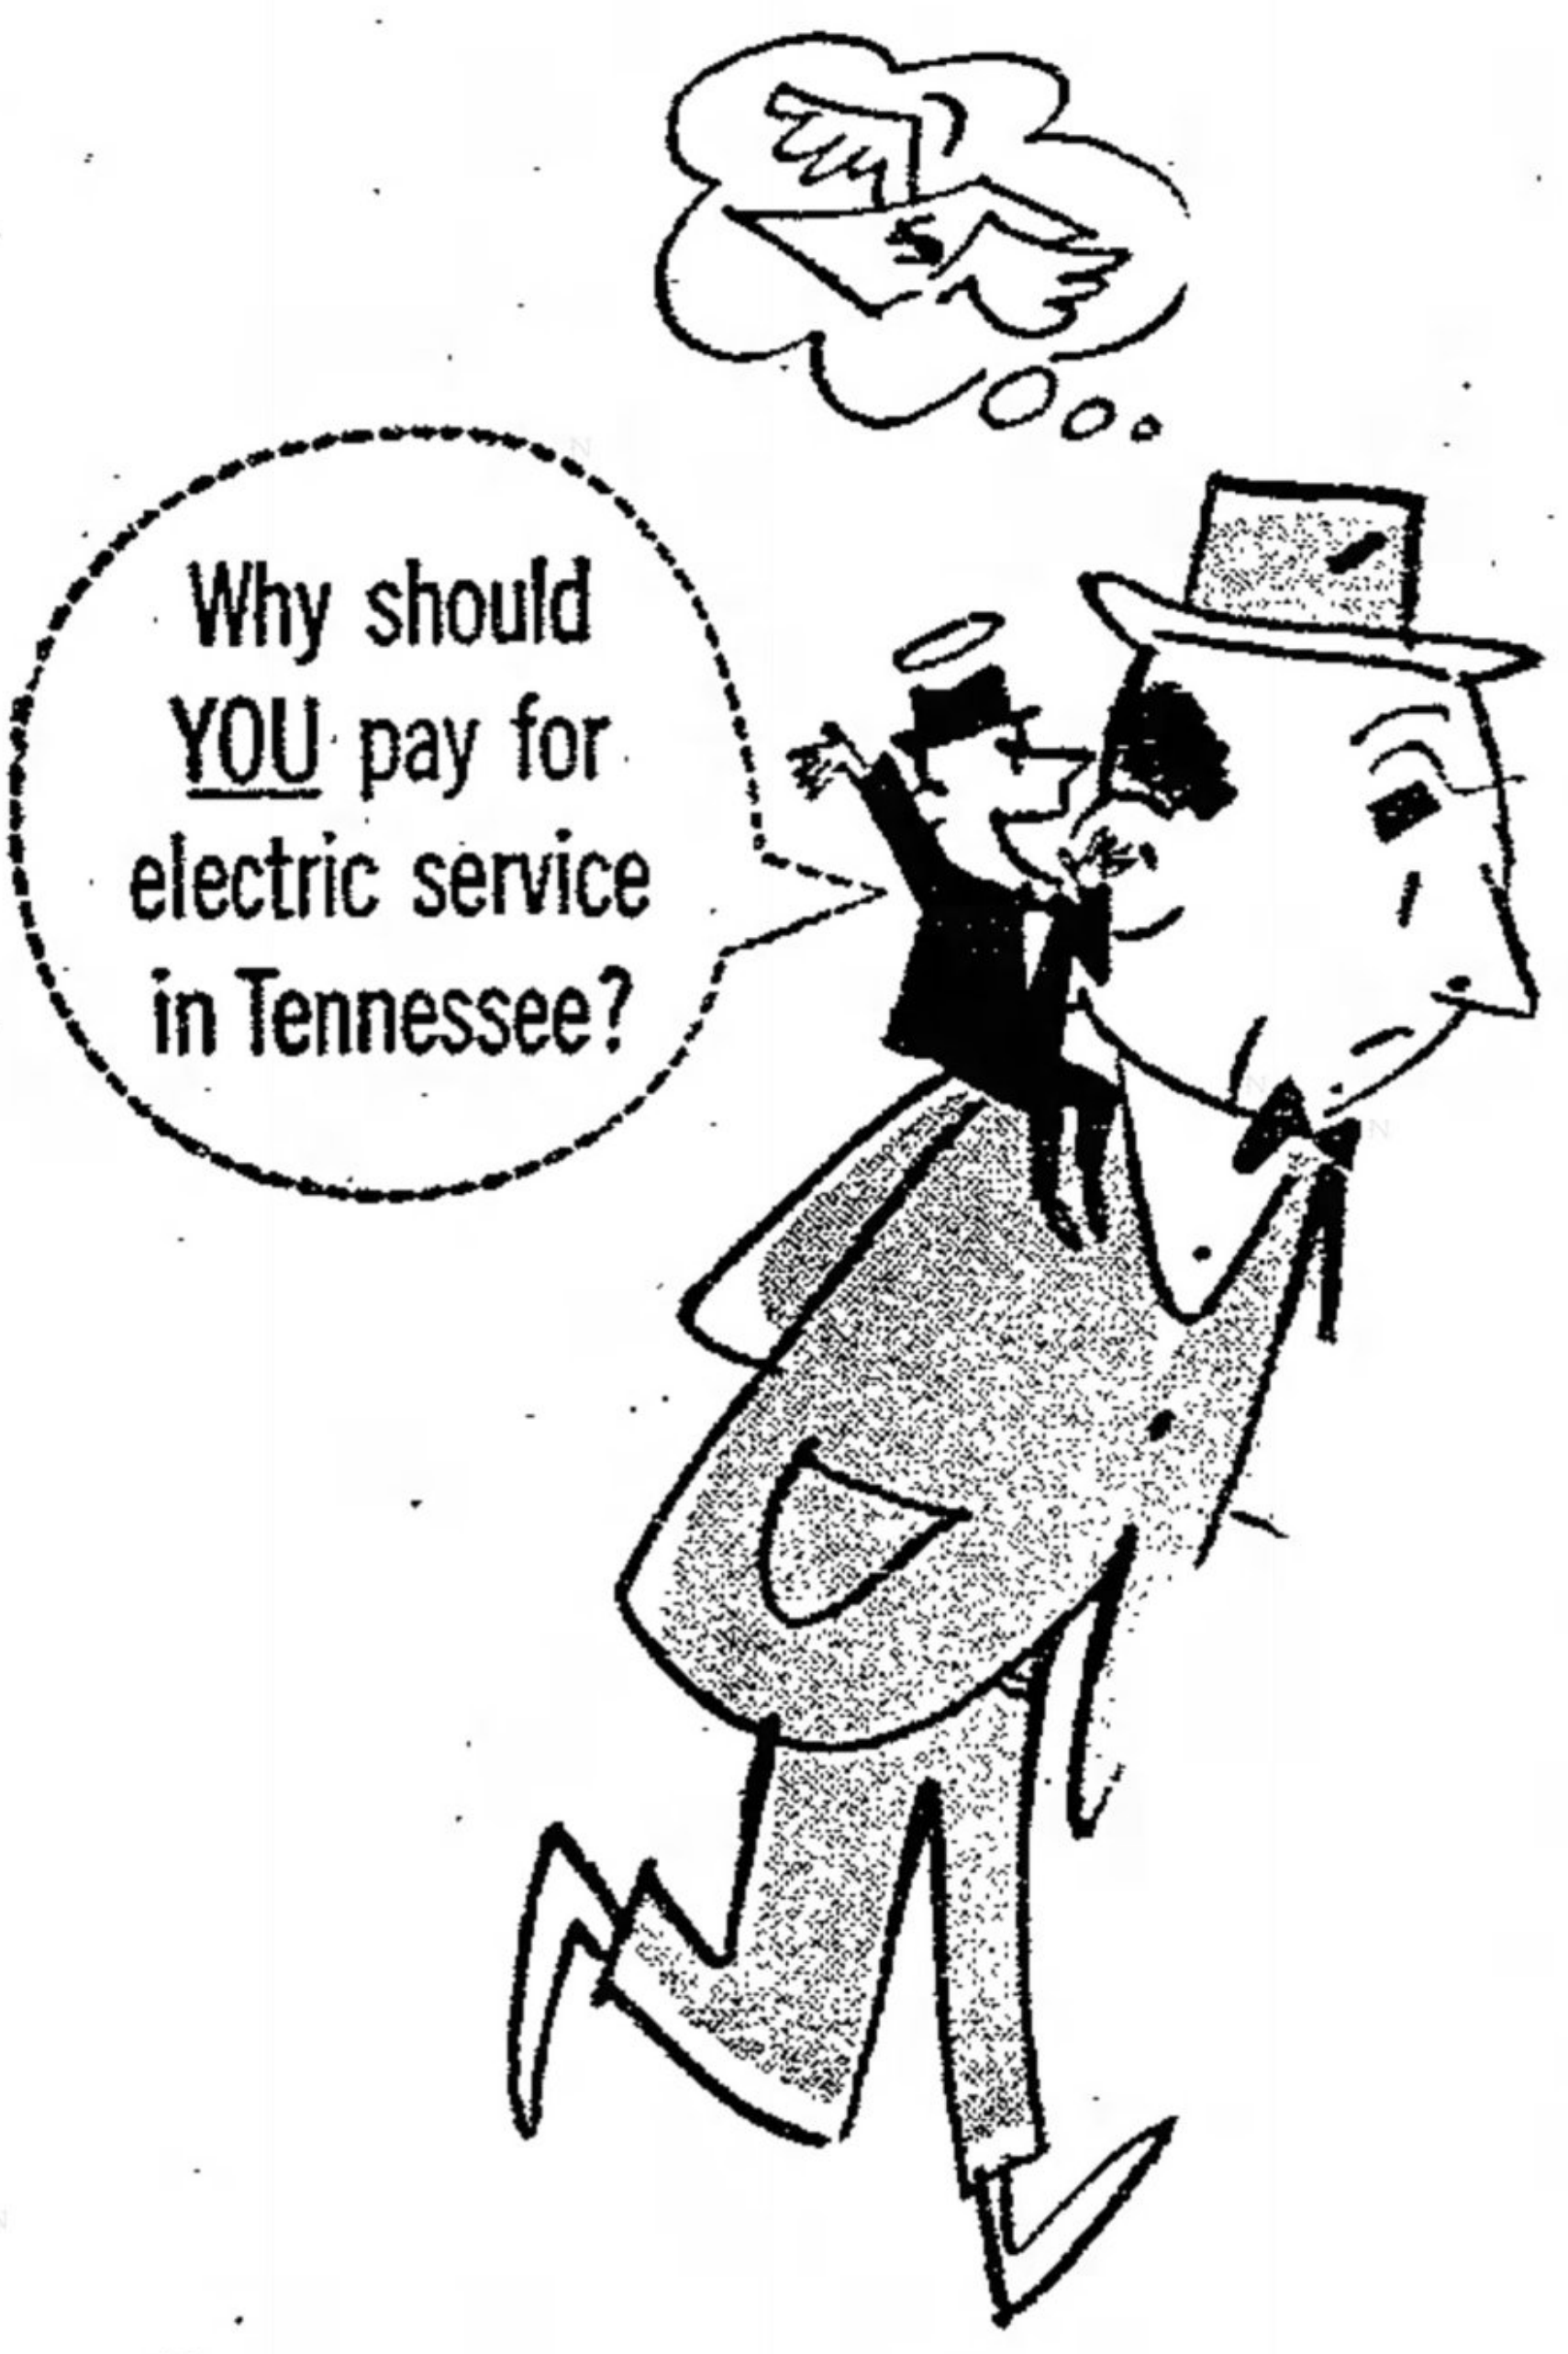
Unless there are "important" changes in the state and county tax structure, he said, Allegheny County communities hoping for new industry will be "sadly disappointed."

Rockwell, who is president of Rockwell Manufacturing Co., called for reduction of the corporate net income tax, manufacturers' exemption from the capital gains tax, and removal of two minor "nuisance" taxes — the excise tax on foreign and domestic corporations and the corporate loans tax.

Salary Increases for Liquor Employes

HARRISBURG (UP)—The state Liquor Control Board today announced a salary increase for 1,023 of its employes on a meritorious basis.

The salary hikes will go to 494 managers and assistant managers, 291 liquor store clerks and 238 administrative employes. They will be reflected in the Feb. 15 payrolls.



Why should YOU pay for electric service in Tennessee?

In almost all of Tennessee, and in the other areas of the U. S. served by federal government power systems, a strange twist in federal law puts several million families and businesses into a special "privileged class." Your taxes help pay their electric bills!

Here's what happens: Unlike independent electric light and power companies, federal government power systems pay no federal taxes at all and pay little or no state and local taxes. This means that customers of these federal power systems don't pay the taxes on electricity that you pay. As a result, you have to be taxed more to make up the difference—and to build the federal power plants in the first place.

Shouldn't the basic unfairness of this kind of subsidy and tax exemption be given thorough study and discussion? We think so. That's why we bring you this message.

World Friendship Circle in Meeting at Lutheran Church

Sixteen members attended the January meeting of the World Friendship Circle of Christ Evangelical Lutheran Church on Tuesday evening in the Parish House of the Church.

Mrs. Dorothy Zumbro was leader with the topic, "Our Mission in Malaya." This topic did much to enlighten the members about what is new in Malaya. The answer pointed out that The United Lutheran Church has in two years, seven Americans at work on the field including two women missionaries, three evangelistic missionaries from Germany, two Chinese doctors direct from training in Europe, a Chinese Pastor and his family, and four Chinese couples, trained evangelists from Lutheran mission groups in Hong Kong.

A quiz followed the presentation of the topic. Mrs. Zumbro concluded her program by having everyone join in the Missionary Benediction.

The business meeting, which was conducted by the president, Mrs. Dorothy Specht, was opened with a prayer. Plans were completed for the Mission Study Book Review, to be held on Tuesday evening, at 8 p. m. in the Parish House. The book to be reviewed will be, "Mission — U. S. A."

The members of the other missionary societies of the church will be invited to attend the review as guests of the Circle. Lunch will be served by a committee headed by Jean and Betty Rak.

Members are reminded that next month will be thank offering month. Mrs. Vera Gephart will be the leader for the next regular meeting on Feb. 26, using as her topic, "Youth Serves in New Ways."

A social hour was enjoyed following the business meeting with Mrs. Marion Clapsaddle and Mrs. Kathryn Johnson as hostesses.

GSA Gets Bids on Greensburg Project

HARRISBURG (UP)—The General State Authority has received an unofficial low bid of $2,715 from Equipment and Supplies, Inc., Pittsburgh, on a project for test borings for a new state police barracks in Greensburg.

The new barracks will be built on the site of the present structure which has been condemned as unsafe. The barracks will provide quarters for about 40 men, with sleeping accommodations for 10 men, but without kitchen or dining facilities.

'POLIO MOTHER OF THE YEAR' — National Polio Mother of the Year, Mrs. Rosemary Phillips, 33, Los Gatos, Calif., sits with her family in New York, where they went to be honored by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. Children are Eugene, 14, Tommy, 9, and Lani Sue, 7. The family, all but husband David, 34, an airline pilot, came down with polio in 1951. Mrs. Phillips' arms and legs were paralyzed and she was placed in an iron lung. She fought back to wheelchair status, and now runs her household from the wheelchair. The children have recovered.

Fraud Investigator to Leave Office Feb. 1

SCRANTON, Pa. (UP) — U. S. Attorney J. Julius Levy, who launched the inquiry into alleged fraud in construction of the $34-million Army Signal Corps Depot at nearby Tobyhanna, has resigned, effective Feb. 1.

Levy disclosed Thursday night that President Eisenhower had accepted his resignation and that he would return to private practice. He said he quit because he "can not continue further in this public service without serious injury to my personal estate and to the welfare of my family."

It was believed Oliver Dibble, special assistant to Attorney General Herbert Brownell, would take over the Tobyhanna investigation. Dibble, who worked with Levy throughout the investigation, was recently named to direct trials stemming from the inquiry.

The grand jury has indicted several persons on conspiracy charges in connection with the awarding of contract at the huge Tobyhanna installation, including Rep. William Green, Philadelphia Democratic Chairman, and former Democratic congressman Herbert J. McGlinchey, also of Philadelphia.

McGlinchey was suspended from his $11,000 a year post on the state Tax Equalization Board by Gov. George M. Leader Wednesday night pending disposition of the federal charges.

Levy, who took the post Aug. 14, 1953, "at great personal sacrifice," said he offered to remain as U. S. Attorney after Feb. 1 if so requested by Brownell, but it was considered unlikely he would be asked to stay on.

Levy also squelched rumors he was planning to enter a law partnership in Washington, D.C. with former U. S. Sen. James H. Duff of Pennsylvania.

"Simply crazy," Levy said.

He Doesn't Have To Know How!

TRENTON, N.J. (UP)—William Perry Watson, director of the State Grange spelling bee, tried to put the young contestants at ease Wednesday by spelling a word.
